Collazo Faces First Degree Murder Charges

Man In Slaying Of White House Guard Indicted Today

By GLENN M. GREEN

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A federal grand jury today indicted Oscar Collazo on two counts of first degree murder and two counts of felonious assault in connection with the assassination attempt on President Truman.

The murder counts were returned in connection with the fatal shooting of White House Guard Leslie Coffelt in the wild shooting spree in front of Blair House on November 1.

The felonious assault count dealt with the wounding of White House Guards Joseph H. Downs and Donald T. Birdzell and said the assault was committed "with intent to kill."

Fast Indictment

The indictment is one of the fastest to be acted upon by a district of Columbia federal grand jury for a first degree murder charge. It came just nine days after the attempt to murder the president by the Puerto Rican terrorist Collazo and his fellow conspirator, Griselio Torresola, who was killed.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Jack Fihelly said that Collazo will be arraigned in court on the four charges as soon as the wounded Puerto Rican's condition permits.

The first count said that Collazo and Torresola "unlawfully, feloniously, wilfully, purposely and with deliberate and premeditated malice, shot and murdered Leslie Coffelt."

The second count charged that

It was injured so badly that game protectors had to shoot it.

Chest Workers Continue Effort To Reach Goal

Additional $9,000 Needed To Reach 1950 Campaign Quota

Community Chest campaign workers are continuing their efforts to reach the $127,600 campaign quota after Thursday noon's report meeting, which raised the total to $118,656.

With only $9,000 more to go, campaign leaders are determined to keep plugging until the goal is reached. Much of this $9,000 is expected to be raised in a continuance of the cleanup campaign.

Many of the divisions have completed their work but several still have some places to hear from. Any persons, who have not been contacted for some reason or another during the campaign, are asked to send their donations to the Community Chest office.

Over Quotas

Public Service, Financial and School divisions all have gone over their quotas, while the Commercial, Women's and Rural divisions are not far off.

Rent Control Extension To Be Requested

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(INS)—Housing Expeditor Tighe Woods moved today to obtain extension of Federal Rent Controls until March 31, 1951.

Woods has already recommended the three-month extension to President Truman, and a source close to Woods said that the necessary legislation has been drafted for submission to the White House.

Purpose of the brief 90-day extension would be to give the incoming 82nd Congress an opportunity to survey the situation and decide whether rent controls should be permitted to expire.

The existing law provides that Federal Rent Controls shall terminate December 31, except in communities which request that they be continued. In that event, they will remain in effect until June 30, 1951.

The proposed legislation would also authorize the housing expediter to restore Federal Rent Controls in areas where the reactivation of military installations has boosted rents excessively.

Consideration is also being given to including war plant areas in which rents have boomed as a result of the influx of new workers.

The legislation will probably be submitted to Congress as soon as it reconvenes. It is scheduled to resume its sessions November 27.

New Pension Bill Likely For City Employes

(Court Opinion On Page 14)

Lawrence county court decision, voiding the ordinance covering pensions to eight persons who were employed but retired by the city, caused considerable discussion during budget making in city hall this morning, where solons assembled in conference.

The city ordinance was voided because the court deemed that some provisions were illegal.

New Pension Bill Likely

Council talked of preparing a new pension bill for employes.

The money already paid in, a sum allocated for 1950, but not used, and an anticipated sum required for next year, may be used as a nucleus for a new pension system, providing the money can legally be re-appropriated to general revenue, the legality of which has not yet been established, it was indicated.

All members of council agreed that the plight of several of the men who received only one month's pension was deplorable, and that the court order had wiped out all their security.

Under council's interpretation of the court order the men who received the benefits of the pension for one month, must pay it back, and the pension fund liquidated.

Councilman Davis, Mayor Haven and Councilman Hoyland said they didn't care for a pension. Davis said he was young and the mayor said that when it was broached, he did not care for it, but voted for the ordinance. Councilman Schweinsberg said he was opposed to pensions for elected officials.

Councilman Medure said some form of security should be arranged for city employes.

Shriners Pay Honor To May

Syria Potentate Guest At Dinner

Lawrence Caravan, No. 15, of Syria Shrine, honored Illustrious Potentate Kenneth F. May, and the members of his divan, at a Thanksgiving dinner party in The Cathedral, Thursday evening, which proved one of the most outstanding of these annual events.

Several hundred members of the nobility and their ladies were in attendance, and following a splendid dinner which included turkey and all the trimmings, a varied program of entertainment was presented.

Judge John G. Lamoree presided as toastmaster, and called upon Illustrious Potentate May, who introduced the members of the divan who were present. He also reviewed some of the activities of Syria during the past year, stating that a grand opening party would be held for members and their ladies later in the month, to celebrate the completion of additions and renovations which have been made at the mosque during the past few months.

Officers Introduced

President Paul E. Berry introduced the officers of the Caravan, and the past presidents and their ladies.

A varied program of entertainment was presented, with Ed. Schaughency, of Syria acting as master of ceremonies. Prior to the variety show, a "fashion show" was presented by local members of the nobility, under the direction of James H. Elmore, in which some outstanding feminine creations were modeled by A. C. Councilmen Express Stand On City Budget

Unofficial Action Shows New Taxes For Coming Year

City council met in heated budget conference this morning and out of the verbal pyrotechnics came an unofficial vote of three to two, that . . .

Property tax will be increased one mill, or from 10 to 11, next year.

An amusement tax of 10 per cent will be levied.

All employes will receive a wage increase of $15 monthly.

After the various budget problems had been aired, pro and con, Mayor John F. Haven called a roll of individual council members as to their vote on the foregoing problems.

They said as follows:

Council Attitude

Davis: He said that $27,000 has been paid into the pension fund, $15,000 was allocated for it this year and $16,000 anticipated for it in 1951 and believed this would make up the budget shortage. However, if this total of $58,000 cannot be allocated to general revenue and a one mill increase in property tax must be imposed to raise wages, he would vote against the increase. He said he also opposed the amusement tax,

Recount Likely In Michigan

Errors In Unofficial Count Tighten Race For State Governor

(BULLETIN)

DETROIT, Nov. 10—(INS)—Republican candidate Harry F. Kelly's lead in the Michigan governor's race shrank to 813 votes today when another large error was discovered in the unofficial vote count.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, apparently defeated on the basis of complete unofficial returns Tuesday, gained another 1,171 votes when MacComb County election officials reported the second large error discovered in the tally.

Williams picked up more than 3,000 votes yesterday when it was found that 28 precincts in heavily Democratic Warne County failed to count the ballots of persons who had voted a straight-party ticket.

The latest error leaves the race in such confusion that a recount appears almost certain.

Red Hot And Blue Gets Enthusiastic Approval

Any time 3200 kids approve a show it has to be good.

And that many or more approved Red Hot and Blue Thursday afternoon in the Cathedral. Approved it in a fashion that left no doubt of their intention even if it did jeopardize the ear drums of the adults who happened to be present.

The kids were right. Red Hot and Blue, the minstrel and variety show being presented by the New Castle Rotary club is a smackeroo and if that isn't plain let us hasten to explain that it is a couple of hours of ear filling, eye filling entertainment by a group of talented New Castle folks.

Hundreds Of Families Flee California Fire

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Nov. 10—(INS)—Hundreds of families fled from their homes early today when a brush fire, swept by 60-mile-an-hour winds, swept through Newmark acres, a settlement north of San Bernardino.

At least 12 houses were reported destroyed by the fire, which spread sparks before it for more than a mile and a half.

Refugees were taken to the Arrow View Junior High School in San Bernardino.

Fire departments from San Bernardino and surrounding areas were called in to fight the sudden blaze.

The flames were reported to have started in the little mountain area near the new subdivisions north of the city.

San Bernardino police said the fire was caused by high tension wires blown down by the stiff winds which roared in off the desert.

They added that several more homes in the Marshall-Mt. Vernon area were in danger of being razed.

Some 2,000 men in the U. S. Army's disaster crew were reported standing by in case they were needed to fight the blaze.

New Tactics In Strike To Tie Up Phone Systems

'Hit-And-Run' Idea Being Introduced; Conference Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Union strategists for 33,000 striking members of the CIO-Communication Workers of America introduced "hit-and-run" tactics today in an effort to paralyze nation-wide telephone service.

Union officials acknowledged that their picket lines which they hoped would cripple the 'phone system were spread thin in the 42 states affected. Then they revealed that the new strategy, involving the return of some workers to their jobs, had been devised.

Resume Conferences

The new maneuver was made known as officials of the Western Electric Co., Bell Telephone subsidiary, and the union prepared to resume conferences with mediators to seek a settlement of the strike.

Word of the "hit-and-run" strategy originated in Michigan, where it was announced that maintenance forces and other employes who Report Tibet Appeals To U.N.

Seeks Help From U.N. In Invasion

NEW DELHI, Nov. 10—(INS)—The Tibetan government was reported today to have appealed to the United Nations for "intervention and help" in the situation created by the invasion of Tibet by Chinese Communist troops.

A broadcast by the all-India radio also said that the Tibetans had protested to the U. N. against the action of the Communist Chinese.

Word of the Tibetan appeal was received less than 24 hours after Indian Deputy Premier Sardar Vallabhbahai Patel declared that the Chinese invasion of Tibet created "new dangers" in India.

Patel asserted that such armed action as the Chinese Communists are taking in Tibet might touch off a third world war.

The Chinese Peiping regime, headed by Mao Tse-Tung, is seeking to restore Chinese sovereignty over the Asiatic mountain land. The Chinese contend that the 12-year-old Panchen Lama is the rightful ruler of Tibet. Their plan is to put him at the head of a local autonomous government in place of the 15-year-old Dalai Lama.

New Offensive By Red Forces Appears Near

Red Troops Are Entering Korea From Manchuria

By IRVING R. LEVINE

(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

SEOUL, Nov. 11 — (Saturday) — United Nations spearheads scored new gains ranging up to nearly 12 miles Friday as American planes struck for a third successive day at Red military traffic streaming into Korea from Manchuria.

Allied ground patrols probed northward steadily while heavy barrages in central North Korea appeared to portend a possible offensive in that sector by reinforced thousands of Chinese and Korean Communist troops.

Hundreds of American bombers and fighters lashed all the Yalu River bridges and other communication targets on the Korean side of the international boundary to hinder the flow of Chinese reinforcements from Manchuria.

Increased Air Resistance

The mighty air offensive met an increased challenge by Manchuria-based enemy planes as heavy activity by Soviet-type MIG-15 jet fighters was noted Friday afternoon near the frontier city of Sinuiju.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force announced that one group of four to six MIG-15's made two passes against a flight of four American F-80 shooting star jets. Later seven Communist jets attacked another flight of American jets over the same area.

In the first of Friday afternoon's jet versus jet encounters, the

Two Bombers Are Damaged

Report Two B-29s Forced Down By Attacks In Korea

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The Air Force announced today that two four-engined B-29 bombers were severely damaged by enemy attacks on the Korean side of the Manchurian border yesterday.

One of the B-29s, attacked by an enemy fighter which was presumably a jet, crashed into the Yellow Sea 18 miles south of Chong-Ju. Dispatches to the Pentagon did not say whether the crew was picked up.

The second B-29, returning from a reconnaissance mission along the border, crash-landed in Japan.

In addition, an American F-80 jet fighter was severely damaged in a dog fight with a Russian jet, but the American pilot managed to land safely at Sinanju.

U. S. Army headquarters meanwhile discouraged any idea that a winter campaign can be avoided if the Communists decided to make a determined stand along the Manchurian border.

A spokesman said that all this border area to a depth of 40 or 50 miles on the Korean side is mountainous, providing "many, good defensive positions."

The secrets have started at our house, there's whispering here and there, a word or two in the kitchen, a meaningful phrase on the stair. Some letters sneaked out to the postman, some telephone calls that are hushed, and when packages come there's a dash for the door and upstairs the bundles are rushed. I wonder can it be the Christmas, which as yet is so long, long away, and some one is starting in early, it's cool, forty-two today.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Pickets were withdrawn suddenly today from New Jersey's major long distance telephone center in Newark and some non-dial exchanges. Normal service restoration was begun at once.

It could not be learned whether this was part of the "hit and run" strike strategy started in Michigan.

shooting stars suffered no damage and the American pilots made no claims of hitting the 600-mile-per-hour enemy jets.

Results of the second all-jet dogfight were not available up until 7 o'clock Friday evening (5 a.m. EST). In the three days through Thursday, American pilots shot down three to four and damaged at least six other jets without American loss.

Make 224 Sorties

Executing 224 sorties over the border region Friday, Fifth Air Force fighters and fighter-bombers knocked out ten enemy tanks and 32 trucks while damaging one Yalu bridge and setting eight Red towns aflame.

B-29 Superforts loosed a torrent of fire bombs upon the key frontier supply center and Communist command post of Uiju, ten miles northeast of Sinuiju and struck heavily at the big northeast Korean port of Chongjin.

In the northeast sector, a regiment of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Capital Division dashed north nearly 12 miles in the area above captured Kilchu to within 33 air miles southwest of Chongjin.

This allied force thus speared to a point less than 90 air miles southwest of the short Korean-Soviet Siberian border on the Tumen River in Friday's longest U.N. advance.

Significant Gain

The day's most significant gain, however, was achieved in the central sector when ROK Sixth Division troops reached the vital lateral road linking Kunuri with Tokchon.

Kunuri is the eastern anchor of the U.N. Chongchon River spearhead in northwest Korea and Tokchon is a communication pivot of the Central sector where the Reds were building up strength.

A U. S. First Corps spokesman said Friday night the ROK Sixth Division had pressed forward 4,000 yards—or about two and a half miles—to reach the Kunuri-Tokchon road.

A half dozen miles northeast of Kunuri the Reds set up a roadblock at Wonni which was termed by the spokesman a no man's land.

Lost Two Tanks

Just beyond the Chongchon brideghead perimeter meanwhile, an armored patrol of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division lost two tanks when it entered a minefield covered by fire from an estimated battalion of Red troops.

It was not yet known whether the crews of the two American tanks escaped along with the rest of the patrol when it withdrew from the minefield.

From U. S. 10th Corps field headquarters International News Service War Correspondent John Rich reported that U. S. First Marine Division troops had reached the Changjin (Chosin) plateau north of Hamhung.

There the leathernecks had less than two miles farther north to go over flat terrain to reach the south rim of the vast Changjin (Chosin) hydroelectric reservoir, one of Korea's richest power sources.

Swarms of carrier-based fighters and dive bombers of the U. S. First Marine Air Wing rendered close support to all U.N. ground forces throughout the northeast front.

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN ABOARD THE WILLIAMSBURG, Nov. 10—(INS)—The Yacht Williamsburg, carrying President Truman on a brief Chesapeake Bay vacation trip, resumes cruising today after spending the night anchored off the Patuxent River (Md.) Naval Air Station.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman alternated working on official papers, sunbathing and napping yesterday while the Williamsburg ran from Patuxent to Annapolis and back.

COLLAZO FACES FIRST DEGREE MURDER CHARGES

the two men attempted to perpetrate a house breaking by trying to shoot their way into Blair House and attempted to assault and murder President Truman "and any other person or persons who might be there in present with him or guarding him."

Could Get Death Penalty

The second count also noted that the two men were armed and were "using dangerous weapons" in the house breaking attempt.

Under the second count, Collazo could be given the death penalty for first degree murder even though Coffelt's death was a non-purposeful killing.

The grand jury met shortly after 9 a.m. (EST) and about 10:30 walked across the street to the U. S. District Court of Judge Edward A. Tamm.

They lined up in front of the bench for a roll call, then Foreman Lloyd Wilson handed Tamm the four-count indictment.

NOT A POLITICIAN'S VICTORY

In the Republican victories over the country Tuesday, many Republican leaders are undoubtedly arrogating to themselves considerable credit. They should forget it.

Not the victory but the idea that the political technique of any one man or group of men swayed the minds of the voters.

This was a victory for the American people and from the results recorded the people voted as they believed. The New York election is an example. The governor is a Republican, the senator is a Democrat and the mayor of New York City ran independently of any organization. Certainly this was no directed victory by political leaders.

What the Republican leaders should remember is that this election was a revulsion of the American voter against Federal extravagance, international policy bungling and in the case of Ohio, a revolt against any group endeavoring to destroy a candidate because he dared to differ with it.

This overturn of 1950 is reminiscent of that of 1946. In that year the Republican victory rolled to such a height that the party took over the national House and Senate.

Foolishly, some Republican leaders decided this election was the forerunner of 1948, assumed some of their old arrogance and as a result got trounced in 1948.

The people have shown they will turn on any political party if they believe they have been let down. The Republican victory of 1950 could very well be a forerunner of 1952 but between now and then the Republican party has to demonstrate some leadership, some knowledge of what the people are thinking and with these in hand, set up a program of constructive action and then work at it.

There is no place for internecine warfare in the Republican ranks this year or next year. The wounds of the primary in May, which were not completely healed by the election, should be healed.

But if Republican leaders now in positions of responsibility within the party believe they can punish their primary enemies, they are merely riding for a fall in 1952.

This was not a politician's victory. It was a people's victory. The people will respond to strong, intelligent leadership, but they will certainly strike down the political hack who through the fortunes of war has suddenly found himself occupying a place in the sun.

Finally, Senator Robert A. Taft has set an example the balance of the party leaders might well follow. He faced the issues of the campaign courageously and believing in his stand fought valiantly. He never hedged, he never dodged, and when the fight was over we found the people of Ohio respected him so highly that they gave him an unprecedented majority.

LIGHT ON THE PROGRAM

The nation's business men and industrialists now have a better picture of the federal government's rearmament plans. Members of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, meeting at Sea Island, Ga., heard a number of authortative speeches on this subject. And much of the information given them has been made public.

Defense Secretary Marshall could not give full details of the production program, for the blueprint is only half finished, but he offered some general facts. As now planned, the rearmament program will be a four-year affair. Its exact size is still undecided, so its effect on the supply of civilian goods cannot be estimated, but the hope is that it can be run in a way to avoid long shutdowns or layoffs.

That sounds vague, perhaps, but Secretary Marshall said specifically that during the months just ahead the volume of defense orders will take care of any "slack" resulting from government controls. That was definitely reassuring to management.

Industrialists must have been pleased, too, to hear from National Production Administrator Harrison that no set limits will be put on consumer end-products, such as automobiles. Materials going into such goods will be curtailed but producers will be able to use their ingenuity to stretch it out.

It would help if the planners would agree on their goals and then given business men all the fact possible so that private enterprise can adjust itself to the situation. But no one is entitled to ask for miracles. Secretary Marshall and his colleagues must be given time to get their vast problem in mind. There must be a willingness to cooperate on both sides.

SERMON ON OLD AGE

Medical science has made great progress in increasing the span of human life. Society through its various governments has set up provisions to care for those who reach the evening of life financially insecure. At the same time thousands of men and women who have passed the allotted three-score-and-ten are still holding important places in business and the professions, willing and capable of meeting the competition of younger persons, without asking odds.

But the fact remains that life is designed for youth, and with its greatest rewards to be obtained during the years of mental and physical vigor. Those who look forward to retirement often find only disappointment and boredom in the long-awaited rocking chair. Let them be a bit crotchety at times. Old age is entitled to many concessions.

A bee has five eyes—science item. Must be pretty hard to stare it out of countenance.

A wandering celestial body is causing astronomers some concern. It may be the cost of living.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

France Seeks Big Four Meeting

Definite new signs emerged today that France intends to take a leading role in efforts to bring about another meeting of the big four council of ministers.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman told United States Ambassador David K. Bruce that France is disposed to send a "conciliatory" reply to Soviet proposals for a big four revival.

His government takes the view, however, that any new meeting must not be confined to Germany alone but should embrace all problems now dividing east and west throughout the world.

Of great significance in this connection is a statement made by Guy Mollet, French cabinet minister in charge of council of Europe affairs.

Grave Fears

Mollet spoke to the Anglo-American Press Association in Paris and expressed grave fears of additional French reverses in Indo-China. He was believed to have been referring specifically to the important northern town of Hanoi when he said that new defeats may involve names of places which concern the entire world and not France alone.

France has been extremely active in all western European defense measures, plus undertakings not on a military plane, such as the council of Europe.

She is trying to contribute on a spiritual and cultural basis as well as on a military and economic one.

This has shown a willingness to abandon national sovereignty on a scale exceeding any other time in the past, and now she has even altered Premier Rene Pleven's proposal for drastic limitation of German rearmament.

Danger In Far East

All of this, however, does not exclude the fact that France's major preoccupation at the moment is in the far east.

There seems to be a growing belief in France—not necessarily shared elsewhere—that the period of European crisis is easing and that once the defenses of western Europe are completed, the continent will be able to breathe easily.

But the loss of power, prestige, money and manpower to communist Viet Minh rebels in Indo-China has been tremendous and seems destined to become far greater unless some adequate means of international action can be found.

The situation in Indo-China differs from that of Korea in that it is the outgrowth of a long-smouldering civil war and resentment against French colonialism.

The latter has a place in United Nations concern but a purely internal conflict has not, and while aid doubtless has been given to the rebels by Soviet Russia and communist China, this has not reached the stage of open intervention.

Not On Agenda

France, of course, would like to see Indo-China on the agenda of the U. N. security council but cannot for the present put it there.

It is quite possible that Pleven and Schuman believe that some measure of relief at least might be obtained through the medium of the big four.

France's stake in Indo-China is very great. It compares favorably with that of Great Britain in Hong Kong and China.

Its government is trying desperately to prove that the former evils of colonialism which sparked the Viet Minh uprising have been rectified, while a program of social reforms has been slowed only by the fact that the French have been compelled to fight well-armed and skilled insurrectionists instead of improving the lot of the people.

It is a foregone conclusion that Russia would shrug off responsibility for the Indo-Chinese hostilities even in the course of private big four sessions.

But no one doubts that a nod from the Kremlin would take much of the sting out of rebel activities and might even result in a settlement—meaning a coalition and positive measures on behalf of the Indo-Chinese.

The French may be hoping for a very great deal. But it is obvious they feel that a big four meeting might aid their cause and it certainly would not harm it.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

It looks like MacArthur will have to pitch a double-header.

The way those Chinese Commies are acting, this thing is going into extra innings and Uncle Sam has no farm clubs in the UN on which to draw.

Even some of the people who were saying "our intervention in Korea was a good idea" are now putting it "out intervention in Korea was a good idea . . . wasn't it?"

The President says we're going to keep right on fighting Communist aggression anywhere . . . That should solve unemployment for the balance of this year and next.

At the moment there is no shortage of Communist aggression and production probably will go up before it goes down.

Old Chinese (Nationalist) philosopher say "Before starting dangerous enterprise, wise man considers probable risks, wiser man considers possible consequences."

We are now enjoying unconsiderable possible consequences.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOME AND SCHOOL INFLUENCES

The child takes his home along with him to school and brings some of his school home with him. Fortunate is he when his school and home work together as close partners. The Association for Childhood Education International, with officer at 1200 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C., a nonprofit highly professional organization, has issued an excellent pamphlet, "Partners in Education: a Guide to Better Home-School Relationship."

In these days when the needs of our school children are so great I wish this bulletin might be carefully studied by all parents, teachers, even by the other fifty percent of adults in the average community who have no children under eighteen years of age. The bulletin not only suggests ways by which parents, teachers and children can work together for better schools and homes but also how the whole community can work well toward these goals and thus have a better community for everybody.

Close Cooperation

The bulletin was developed cooperatively by a committee representing the leading organizations working for closer home-school-community cooperation, headed by Dr Muriel W. Brown.

It is so chock full of ideas and suggestions that I can relay but a few of them here.

When there is unity of purpose between home and school, children gain because their teachers know more about them as persons and can help them more. Then parents can understand what teachers are trying to do. Then problems of adjustment are fewer or are more easily solved. They feel more secure.

Feel Secure

Parents gain from close home-school partnership. They feel more secure and worthwhile. Their experiences are enriched through opportunities to keep up with advancing knowledge about children, education, and family development, through useful cooperative activities personally satisfying, sharing experiences and ideas with other parents and gaining interest in problems and issues affecting children, homes and schools. Parents also gain insights and skills which make them more effective citizens in their communities.

Teachers profit too from good school-home partnership. "They gain personal satisfaction, recognition, appreciation, more status in their communities, better salaries, more comfortable living, more friendliness, more opportunities to teach more usefully and pleasantly in community life," the bulletin says. They enjoy better results from their teaching efforts because they know more about their pupils as persons.

It has always seemed to me that we parents should be first to try to further closer home-school relationship, as nothing else can mean quite so much to use as our children. (My bulletin "Parents Can Help the Child Succeed at School" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.)

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

One of the dirtiest tricks ever played on a bridegroom, I think, was perpetrated at the bachelor dinner of a well-known socialite. Too much champagne had done him in completely. When he recovered consciousness, his right arm was in a sling. He had broken it, his friends told him mournfully, executing a Highland Fling on top of a table. There was not a word of truth in the story. The poor fish spent his entire honeymoon with a perfectly sound right arm bound up in a plaster-of-Paris cast.

At the Washington Press Club, a member told of covering President Truman's latest speaking tour of the middle west. In Chicago, a broken-down old derelict asked what all the excitement was about. "It's for Truman," explained the reporter indulgently. "Hadn't you heard he was in town today?" "Never even heard of Truman," answered the derelict. "Who in heck is he anyhow?" "And that is how I learned," concluded the reporter, "who Gallup polled in 1948."

Packed to the rafters is an old saying . . . but we actually experienced such a sight yesterday afternoon at The Cathedral . . . every seat was taken and many were standing . . . a few couldn't get in, which we are sorry to report. The school children filled the seats of the auditorium yesterday . . . and tonight and Saturday night, we hope that the seats will be filled by their parents. A lot of mighty fine laughs as you see your neighbor doing his or her number . . . dancing, singing and telling good stories.

Second act . . . or part . . . is an old fashioned fast moving minstrel . . . with six end men . . . your favorites . . . Chapman, Potter, Rhodes, Cole, Twaddle and Jones . . . the fun men of local show business. Also, some very fast moving numbers by members and friends of the Rotary Club.

Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things, which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.—Philippians 3:13.

Sales Resistance In Hardware Department

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Speedy Action Is Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — For five or six weeks during a singularly irrelevent election campaign the politics of things past seems to have predominated.

Apparently under the rules of the game any discussion of matters relevant to the enormous tasks ahead of the country was strictly forbidden. If you talked about such things, you risked being called offside and penalized. I'm sure there were execptions to this rule, courageous and notable exceptions. But the rule of irrelevance seems to have prevailed over large areas.

Did Not Stand Still

What is equally apparent is that while all this was going on, things did not stand still either at home or abroad. Above all, the national economy was not persuaded to do a still-pond-no-more-moving in the interval while officeholders and office seekers engaged in a political fan dance.

The pressure of rising prices is far more serious than it was six weeks ago. This is shown in retail prices indexes. But these levels continue to lag behind price rises in the wholesale field.

Wherever the control of Congress finally rests when all the votes are counted, there must be some action quickly to try to check the dangerous spiral. The present consumer price level is now very close to the all-time high recorded in August-September of 1948.

Give Time To Recover

President Truman has indicated to those around him that he intends to move just as soon as the election was off the boards and politicians and public have had time to recover. But the way in which to move on this threat is not at all clear.

Some of the members of the president's official family are convinced that a considerable share of the blame falls on big business. They accuse industrialists of staging something like the sit-down strike that took place in 1940-41 when President Roosevelt was trying to force conversion from peacetime to wartime production.

Today the issue is expansion and the immediate focus of the controversy is steel. That industry will not expand unless government pays the whole cost and then guarantees a profit on the new plants paid for with government money is the indignant complaint in one wing of the administration.

There is reason to believe the president shares their wrath. To one group at least he expressed the intention of calling Congress back as quickly as possible to pass a far stiffer excess-profits tax law than that which applied during World War II. Those urging him to take this line declare that the profit position of industry is even more favorable than it was in the boom years after V-J Day.

Less Jaundiced View

But more cautious counsel comes from others around the president who take a less jaundiced view of the present position of industry. Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer goes right on saying that the remedy is wage and price controls in one form or other. As Sawyer sees it, the delay of six weeks has merely sharpened the need for the kind of government action that was inevitable from the beginning.

In the camp of the wrathful is W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Just before the election he made two speches that let off some of the steam he has been bottling up. But in the process of persuading businessmen to see the light, Symington really lets go.

A business executive in California was startled the other day by a call from Symington who proposed a somewhat unwelcome chore. When the executive demurred, Symington said, "Well, how far do you want the Russians to get before you move? Do they have to be in Portland or in Seattle?"

Sense of Frustration?

This is probably a reflection of the harassment of a back-breaking job. But it would sem to represent a growing sense of frustration eating at government officials charged with carrying out the huge rearmament program.

In any real sense, of course, it is purely an illusion to talk about party control of Congress. President Truman has never been able to get action on the major points of his domestic program. Northern as well as southern Democrats either ignore his requests or openly and eagerly defy him.

But there should be at least a minimum of unity to meet the frightening menace of inflation. That has nothing to do with partisanship. It directly concerns the well-being of every American regardless of party or prejudice. And the politicians of both parties must be made to realize it.

PARAKEET

He hops on my head and tousles my hair,
A parakeet feathered as blue as the sky.
I know that he wonders while standing up there
What here at my typewriter doing am I.

He nips at my ear and he pecks at my cheek
Still watching me closely with little eyes bright.
As if thinking: If only you'll teach me to speak
It may be that later you'll teach me to write.

Oh, bright little fellow, so carefree and gay!
My room is your world, but I fear if you knew
The sad world outside and the hate men display
Perhaps you'd not love me as much as you do.

If I taught you to speak and to read and to write
You would learn of my world and its terrible state
And the wrongs that men do, and you'd fear that I might Continue man's training and teach you to hate.

NEW YORK—Jonathan Daniels, President Truman's biographer: "The Republican victory . . . will certainly stiffen his (Truman's) determination in the fight from now until November, 1952. I am sure as a result . . . he is in the presidential race now . . ."

High-Level Football?

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—This college football team, let's say, is run via a private telephone line between the president's box-seat and the coach's spot on the players' bench. The team had pushed down to the enemy 20-yard line when the President ordered the coach to send in the second-stringers. Immediately, the enemy recovers a fumble, tears off some sizable gains and seizes the initiative. The coach rushes the first team into the game. In time to prevent serious damage? We don't know as yet.

Happened In Korea

Something like this has happened in Korea. The Americans made that brilliant end-run at Inchon and drove to the 38th parallel. Then the South Koreans were sent across the border while the Americans stood tight for several days. When the Koreans stalled, the Americans moved up and drove to the Red capital of Pyongyang. Then, with the Manchuria border almost in sight, the Koreans were again sent to the fore. This time they bungled badly, and the Americans once more were hurried to the rescue. They are probably in time to prevent a major calamity. But lost ground will have to be retaken and more casualties must be expected. No one can be sure how much damage the campaign has suffered.

To Placate MacArthur?

What goes on here? Perhaps the go-and-stop nature of the progress in Korea lies, not so much on the battlefield, as in the instructions which flow between Washington and MacArthur's headquarters. There exists some rather indignant opinion about these instructions. They may very well be the primary reason for the still-mysterious Wake Island conference. At least it is true that some of MacArthur's West Point college mates are saying in private that the President's 1400-mile flight was largely for the purpose of placating MacArthur. One Army officer, who prefers to be nameless, has said:

"MacArthur threatened to resign the command unless Washington stopped interfering with his military judgments."

An Odd Adventure

The difficulty is, of course, that the Korean adventure is an odd mixture of war, politics and diplomacy. The president of a football college might have a number of high-level reasons behind his instructions. Sometimes it doesn't pay off at the gate to run up a lop-sided score. Sometimes an influential alumnus has a son on the bench and wants to see him play. But the coach, whose sole purpose is to win the game, can't be expected to understand or approve this double-thinking from on high. It's not surprising if messages from Washington are not wholeheartedly welcomed at Tokyo.

But it is wrong to write off the President's ideas on the Korean adventure as merely superficial and whimsical. Politics and diplomacy loom large from his lofty box-seat. From the beginning he has insisted on calling this war a United Nations' police action. It makes better news at home. It promises better hope to a war-sickened world. You can say for Mr. Truman that he has bent many efforts toward turning this happy fiction—a war that's not a war—into fact. But, alas, much of his insistence on the police action motif has been dangerously romantic.

Withheld Ground Forces

Let's see. Back in the June-July season Mr. Truman ordered the Air Force and Navy into the fight, but withheld the ground forces. He was going to rely on the UN-created Korean Republic to defend its own land. This turned out to be a wishful delusion. So did the early notion that we would not bomb behind the 38th parallel. So did the theory that American troops would not invade North Korea. So has every attempt to make the South Koreans look good by giving them military responsibility. In each instance MacArthur—sometimes in excess of specific orders—has had to go beyond the original intent of the White House. The business of putting down a "gang of bandits," as Mr. Truman hopefully called the Red invasion, has consistently borne a remarkable resemblance to the ugly reality called war.

Difficult To Be Cheerful

But even this would not matter so much if Mr. Truman's politics and diplomacy had been justified by success. He had hoped, by representing the whole affair as a police action, to maintain a peace economy at home. But there is every evidence that we are in for the feverish economics of controls, shortages and large armed forces. He had hoped, by this use of language, to encourage our allies and scare off the Chinese Communists who presumably do not want to fight 50-some nations. But even the great victories of September-October have not brought in much foreign soldiery, although there have been brave words and gratifying votes at Lake Success. The Chinese Communists, perhaps tempted to take a whack at the South Korean second-stringers, are now involved in growing numbers. When every tribute is paid to Mr. Truman's high motives and praiseworthy hopes, it's difficult to be very cheerful over their results.

This football team, let's say, has proved itself good enough to win. But instructions from higher up, however reasonable they seem from a box-seat, have apparently irked the coach and thrown the team for a loss of ground. We had better win this game and do the grandstand quarterbacking on Monday.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Sometimes I wish I weren't so ignorant about Economics — particularly about government economics.

I would not so readily confess my ignorance if it were not shared by approximately 149 million 500 thousand other people.

Let me give you an instance of my ignorance. It concerns a government transaction the logic of which I cannot understand for the life of me.

According to a press dispatch, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has just sold to Great Britain fifty million pounds of cheddar cheese from its "price-support stock pile."

The department proudly announces that as a cheese deal it ranks way on top.

(Please do not misread the preceding sentence, although I almost misread the government statement. I did NOT say "as a CHEESY deal." I said "cheese deal.")

So far so good. But now for the economics of the deal, which I fail to understand.

"The sale wiped out half of the government's supply of surplus cheese bought to hold up domestic prices.

"This sale price was not disclosed, but the department bought the cheese for 32 cents a pound, and an official said it was safe to assume Britain bought it for 25 cents a pound or less."

See what I mean?

So that we here at home will have to pay HIGHER PRICES for cheddar cheese, our government sells 50 million pounds of it to a foreign country at a loss of $350,000 and gives the people of that country a chance to buy it for less than we can.

I haven't the slightest idea where the proceeds from the other 50 million pounds still on hand will go.

My personal opinion is that no money will ever be handed over to us by our British friends. I suspect that it will be just another item on the debit ledger—a book which will probably outlast any other book ever written by man.

This cheese deal is only one small item in the many mysterious transactions thought up by the master minds of Washington.

Another little thing I can't understand is why we have to send our good money to "poor countries" all over the world, while we don't say a word about their rulers and assorted potentates. They violate every rule of decency and morals on the Riviera and elsewhere or take their Saturday night baths in piles of diamonds and rubies, while their people are starving to death by the thousands. Then it is OUR money that has to feed them.

There is nothing personal about this.

I don't like cheddar cheese, so its price does not affect me one way or anothes.

Neither do a maharajah's riches or an Egyptian king's dissipations mean any money out of my pocket—or yours.

But wait a minute. They do at that. As long as we Americans have to keep those wastrels' subjects from starvation with OUR tax money, it IS our personal concern.

Or are my Economics all wrong?

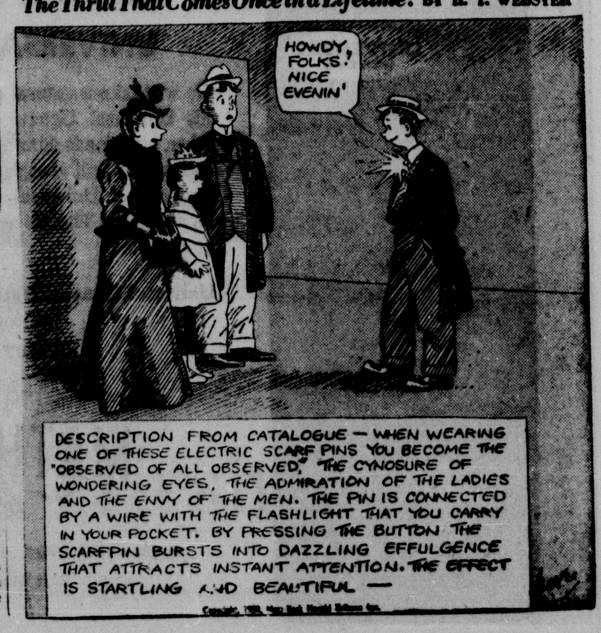
The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime: BY H. T. WEBSTER



Not To Drop Brannan Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(INS)—Source close to Agriculture Secretary Brannan say that he has no intention of dropping the Brannan farm plan in the face of congressional election results.

Brannan is said to believe that the Brannan plan actually was not brought to a test before farmers and therefore sees no reason to change his mind about it.

Congressional candidate using the Brannan plan as a campaign plank were defeated in Tuesday's election, including former agriculture undersecretary Albert Loveland of Iowa. Few candidates openly espoused the plan, many opposed it.

Advocates of the secretary's program hold there still is no conclusive proof that farmers are against it. They even say that if more congressional candidates had used the Brannan plan as a campaign plank, some who were defeated may have won.

More Telephones In State Than In All Of South America

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10—(INS)—The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania serves more persons with its 2,650,000 telephones than the entire continent of South America.

In addition, said General Manager Henry M. Inman at a meeting of Bell officials last night, the company has "spent more than $43,000,000 so far this year in building new plants to expand and improve service in Pennsylvania and plans to spend $60,000,000 by the end of the year."

Since 1945, Inman added, Bell has increased the number of employes by 10,000 to 31,000.

Folks Of Fame

E. I. duPont deNemours was born June 24, 1771, in Paris, France. With his father he emigrated to America in 1799, and in 1802 he built a small powder mill at Wilmington, Del., founding a business dynasty that has flourished for nearly a century and a half, under the family name, and headed in all the years by a descendant of the family. The business has developed into a world-known chemical manufacturing corporation with plants in 27 states, and connections in many foreign countries. It has been the source of military explosives in all United States wars since the date of its founding, and also of our allies. Among the products now manufactured by the company are explosives, acids and chemicals, synthetic ammonia, industrial alcohols, dyes, lacquers, paints, pigments, coated fabrics, rayon, cellulose film, photographic film and plastic. He died in Philadelphia, Oct. 31, 1834.

This American naval officer, Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, was born at New York City, June 18, 1890. He was a student of the University of Delaware, and a graduate of the United States Naval Academy in 1913. He was commissioned ensign of the U. S. Navy, and advanced through the grades to admiral in 1947. He was chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, Navy department, 1941-1943; commander of Amphibious Group 1, January, 1944-1945. He participated in the capture of Kwajalein, Saipan, Palau, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa. He was commander of cruisers and destroyers of the Pacific fleet in 1945; department chief of Naval operations, special weapons, November, 1945-1946, during which period, as commander of Joint Army and Navy Task Force 1, he planned and commanded atomic bomb tests at Bikini. Since 1947 he has been commander-in-chief of the Atlantic (unified) command.

Fire-police have full authority to regulate traffic at fires and to enforce the provisions of the traffic laws which the fire company is enroute to, attending, and returning from a fire. The State Police suggest that you comply with instructions of a fire-policeman the same as you would comply with the instructions of any other law enforcement officer.

VACATION

Butch and Mom get along pretty well. She gives him his bath and feeds him and cuddles him and he enjoys himself.

Mom never thinks that it is work to take care of Butch. She couldn't leave him for a minute without worrying her head off. She doesn't want any vacation from caring for him.

Doctors say that a little relaxation now and then is pretty good medicine. A change of scene or work helps to keep things going smoothly.

All work and no play may not be so good.

Maybe Sunday school is pretty good for people, too.

Word has been received by Mrs. Frederick A. Smith of 427 Northview avenue, that her husband's mother, Mrs. Mary Isabel Cassidy Smith, of Nampa, Idaho, died quite unexpectedly Wednesday evening at Nampa. Rev. Smith, who is on a missionary tour in eastern Pennsylvania called Mrs. Smith to inform her of the sudden death of his mother.

The late Mrs. Smith, prior to her death, was enroute to Idaho where she and her husband were to make their future home and was confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital here for several days before being able to continue her motor journey in the company of her son-in-law and daughter and Mr. Smith The family had arrived at Nampa on Wednesday noon and that evening Mrs. Smith expired.

No details have been received of the funeral arrangements, but it is expected that Rev. Smith will fly out to Idaho to attend services for his mother.

Mrs. Smith was born in Nova Scotia, Canada, in 1873 and later resided in Philadelphia for a number of years. Her last home was in Pitman, N. J. Surviving in addition to her husband, George A. Smith and her son, Rev Frederick A. Smith; are the following children: Mrs. Harry Bryden, Tatamagouche, Nova Scotia, Canada; Mrs. Howe Smith, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Albert Donahue, Nampa, Idaho; Mrs. Helen Bach, Pitman, N. J.; two brothers, Edgar Cassidy, Red Deer, Canada; and Dr. M. S. Cassidy of England.

Charge Watchman Stole Thousands Of Pairs Of Shoes

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10. —(INS)—A watchman at a Philadelphia shoe factory was arrested today on charges of "walking off" with between 20,000 and 100,000 pairs of children's shoes over the past three years.

Philadelphia detectives arrested James Hill, 57, at his Camden, N. J. home last night and brought along a moving van to cart away about 5,000 pairs of stolen steppers stored in Hill's own "bargain basement."

President Approves Appointment Of Woman To New Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—President Truman today approved the appointment of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg as the first woman in history to receive a civilian post of authority over the Army, Navy and Air Force.

White House Secretary Charles Ross informed newsmen accompanying President Truman on his cruise on Chesapeake Bay, that the President has approved Gen. Marshall's recommendation that Mrs. Rosenberg be appointed Assistant Defense Secretary in charge of manpower and personnel policies.

Ross explained, however, that the formal Presidential appointment will not be made until next week after Mr. Truman returns to the White House.

Marshall and Mrs. Rosenberg will hold a joint news conference this afternoon at the Pentagon building.

Suspend Two Police Officers At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Two Pittsburgh police officers were suspended today and five striking telephone workers were scheduled for hearings in police court as a result of a disturbance in front of the strike-bound Bell Telephone building.

Andrew Charles, assistant superintendent of police, said the two city patrolmen were involved in a disturbance among CIO communications workers picketing the Bell building yesterday.

The officers, Carl Lubman and Robert Montgomery, were in plain clothes and had been drinking, Charles said. They were off duty at the time.

"They had no business what-soever there," Charles added.

Three of the arrested pickets were charged with inciting to riot, and two with disorderly conduct. Police said the trio tried to start a "general free-for-all."

Meanwhile, pickets continued to surround the Bell building in downtown Pittsburgh, and a union spokesman said that non-striking employes who pass through the picket line "do so at their own risk."

Senator McCarthy May Expand Charges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., plans today to expand his charges of communism in government to include the budget bureau and the agriculture department.

Sources close to the Wisconsin senator pointed out that McCarthy considers the Republican victories in the Nov. 7 election a "go-ahead" for further attacks. These sources added that the senator is readying new charges that include the budget bureau and agriculture department, as well as the state department,previously his main target.

McCarthy himself declined to comment further on the election outcome or his future plans.

RED HOT AND BLUE GETS APPROVAL

but a melange is, according to Webster, a "confused mixture". It is also a medley and we'll take the second meaning.

It's a medley of mirth and melody, hoofing and hilarity, merriment and mugging, curves and comedy. It's a breath of the old days of minstrelsy and vaudeville paced in the modern style, with so many changes of costume one wonders if, at the opening of the minstrel, the cast is wearing multiple garbs.

The first half of the show is a variety bill. Opening with "Railroad Station" it goes on with Joe Koscinski and his accordion, "Coney Island", "The Newsboy", "School Daze", "Anything Can Happen", "Stage Door Romance", "Tillie, Millie, Sara and Flo", a barber shop quartet and closing with an "Oklahoma" scene. And over all is the Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovencamp as the master of ceremonies.

Plenty Good

We would like to describe every act but space prohibits that. But about that Oklahoma skit. That's for us. The Mahoning Valley Grange Square Dancers demonstrate why they finished high in the state competition at York and the Cowgirls do a rope looping number that clicks. Delbert Fletcher comes through with a song that sees him at his best and there's a horse training act that gets laughs, horse laughs if you will.

Comes now the minstrel and for this reviewer a feeling of nostalgia. That gang on stage might have been Honey Boy Evans or Al G. Fields troupe. Those singers might have been William A. Thompson or Richards and Church, and those end men might have been Lasses White or Eddie Leonard. They weren't of course, but they were good and lacking the old time minstrelsy they did very well indeed.

The curtain opens with the circle singing "Fine and Dandy" and it was. From there the show goes on through the usual minstrel routine, with some old songs, some new songs, some gags that might have come from Madison's Budget, circa 1905, and still good.

Richard E. Rentz is the interlocutor and in his pristine white suit looks like a man of distinction in oyster white. His end men followed their cues well, the gagging was funny and the specialty numbers were mighty well done.

There's a Hawaiian dance number that might have come from the Rainbow Room. A curvaceous lass whose bony structure must be made of latex and whose terpsichorean efforts are going to be tonic for some tired business men tonight. (Ed. note: In a Hawaiian dance you're supposed to watch the hands.) (Answer. She had hands too.)

A ballroom dance number adds grace to the show and the solo of young Mr. Spence was excellent. The minstrel closes with "The Home Town Band", a novelty number that required timing and precision.

Tonight and Saturday

Thursday's show was a student performance and with the use of shoe horns and deep breaths they got 3200 or more youngsters into a hall that seats 2950 or thereabouts.

If we were designed to be critical, which we're not, we could mention a few spots that need a little polishing and that's what they're getting between now and show time. Tonight when the curtain opens the audience will see a really good show, melodic, merry and rhythmic. The last performance will be Saturday night after which the financial lads of the Rotary club will see how much they will have for their charity fund. If the size of the crowd approximates the quality of the show, the club will have a bucketful of gelt Saturday night.

The show is a Lee Winters production. Lee is a New Castle man who produces home talent shows over the country. Perhaps he wanted to show the home folks what a really good show was like. If he was trying for that, he made his point beautifully.

There are still some good seats left for tonight and Saturday. If you like entertainment served by people you know, better get up to the Cathedral tonight or Saturday.

In this review no attempt has been made to name the performers in each number for the good reason that we didn't want to stand one out above the other. The whole thing is good, so good in fact that it rates a full house tonight and Saturday.

'Suicide Angle' In Death Of Bride Is Being Probed

DUNCANNON, Pa., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Perry County Deputy Coroner L. C. Morrissey said today he is investigating the "suicide angle" in the death of a 19-year-old Harrisburg bride who was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train near Duncannon.

Morrissey said Mrs. Joan Woleslagle left her mother's home at nearby Cove last night to go for a walk and several hours later her mother was notified of her death.

The Woleslagles were married three months ago and last Monday Mrs. Woleslagle came to her mother's home and her husband, Glenn, went to his family's home, according to police.

Report Phone Service In State 'Nearly Normal'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10. —(INS)—Telephone service throughout Pennsylvania was reported "nearly normal" today as the strike of CIO Communications Workers entered its second day.

Bell Telephone Co. officials pointed out that dial phones were not affected, and that Bell employes were still on the job.

Where long distance operators refused to cross picket lines, the company said, supervisory employes maintained long distance service in the Commonwealth with only slight delays.

The company estimated that in Philadelphia, for example, 60 per cent of long distance calls from the city could be handled by their own workers.

Shenango School Board Has Meeting

Shenango township school board held its November meeting at the high school Thursday evening. Only routine business, including the paying of bills, was conducted at the meeting.

The board will meet again on Dec. 4, when board officers will be elected.

ROB SERVICE STATION

LEBANON, Pa., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Police today are searching for two gun-wielding youths who stuck up a service station for $50 several miles west of Lebanon on Route 22.

Mrs. Oliver Miller, wife of the proprietor, said the pair entered the station on the pretext of buying gasoline and soft drinks.

After they finished the drinks, Mrs. Miller said, one of them flashed a gun and demanded money. After Mrs. Miller handed over the contents of the cash register, the pair fled in a convertible automobile.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL

LEBANON, Pa., Nov. 10.—(INS)—William Bean, 71, of Lebanon R. D. 3, died last night of injuries received several hours earlier when he was struck by a car near his home.

State police said Bean was crossing the road when hit by a car driven by Myrtle R. Tobias, 21, of Jonestown.

WISE USE

Conservation has long been thought to be associated with the sportsmen. Many people are not at all in sympathy with the activities of sportsmen. Therefore, they are not interested in conservation. Then, there are just as many people who look upon conservation as some mysterious technology and, accordingly, will have none of it. Let the experts handle it, they say.

Let us assume that everyone of us was well aware of the fact that upon the wise use of our natural resources depended the continuation of civilization as we know it. Even if that truism was inherently ingrained in our very beings, how much would /or could we do about preserving those selfsame resources.

Think for a moment about the multitudinous kinds of people that inhabit this planet; picture, if you can, the vast gamut of interests which they encompass and then try to associate conservation with their interests. Despite the fact that the two dovetail perfectly, only a small fraction of the people are aware of it.

Specifically, what does the average citizen know about conservation and the influence that it has on his or her welfare? Practically, nothing. What about the vast numbers of the world's human population who are merely ekeing out a bare living? How much thought do they give to our dwindling natural resources? It is reported that many southern Koreans in the present conflict will fight indiscriminately on either side; the side which insures them of the fullest stomach. Unfortunately, there are too many people here on earth who believe in that cruel and inexorable law of nature, the survival of the fittest. Their objective seems to be to get what they can while the getting is good. They are not interested in the future welfare of the world except in how it affects them.

A fortnight ago I talked with a local individual who fervently believes the world to be in such a state that nothing will help it excepting a lot of good, old-fashioned prayer.

"How do you figure?" I asked.

"Well, we're between two fires," he went on to explain. "In the first place, there are at least half a dozen hot spots where the people are embroiled in conflicts of one kind or another. Now, wars themselves are bad enough, but when you consider that they more rapidly strip the world of its natural resources, you can understand what I mean."

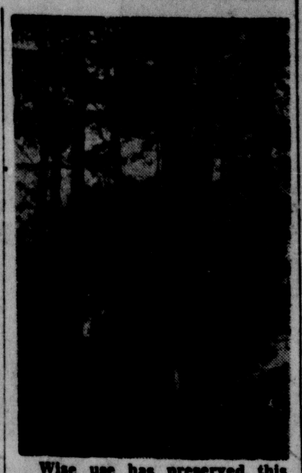
I nodded as he added, "Even the victors lose."

This man's point is borne out by the fact that a careful compilation of statistics shows that in the twenty years following World War I more of our natural resources were used than in the previous 20,000 years. Now, some one comes along with figures showing that in World War II more of our natural resources were used than in the previous 20,020 years.

Paradoxically, the close followers of the sports of hunting and fishing are doing more for conservation than any other one factor. It is they that have done the most to make apparent this loss to an apathetic public. What is more, they are responsible for may of the tangible corrective as well as preventative measures that are helping to put on the brakes to this profligate waste.

Now, we do not mean that the sportsmen are prompted entirely by altruism. Rather, because of their love for the out-of-doors and all that it implies, they realize more than any other segment of our population that upon the conservation of all of our natural resources depends the perpetuation of those things which they have learned to love.

Conservation does not prohibit—it merely advocates the wise use of those things given to us by a beneficent Creator.



Wise use has preserved this fine stand of hemlocks. It is less than twenty miles from New Castle.

Senator Taft Gives Some Idea Of His Campaign Efforts

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 10.—(INS)—It takes a lot of hard work to win a bitterly contested election such as Sen. Taft (R) O., copped Tuesday.

"Mr. Republican" toted up statistics yesterday and announced that in two years of campaigning he made 873 speeches, 117 radio broadcasts, visited 330 plants and made 25 television broadcasts.

Campaign workers estimated the senator spoke to a total of 750,000 persons in his many public appearances.

Expect Spain To Be Admitted To U N Agency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Spain is expected today to be admitted to the United Nations food and agriculture organization, first UN specialized agency to follow through on relaxation of the boycott against the Franco government.

The FAO placed Spain's four-year-old application for membership on its conference agenda. The fact that of 63 FAO members only Yugoslavia voted against bringing the Spanish question before the conferees indicated prompt favorable action.

The UN general assembly last week authorized resumption of full diplomatic relations between Madrid and UN members, and Spanish membership in specialized agencies.

The FAO is the only specialized agency now in session.

Poland and Czechoslovakia, iron curtain countries which would have been expected to oppose Spanish membership, have given notice of withdrawal from the FAO and are not represented at the conference.

Probe Theft Of Loose Diamonds Worth Large Sum

DAYTON, O., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Police are searching today for a slick-operating thief who stole between $80,000 and $125,000 worth of loose diamonds from a strong box at the Dayton Biltmore hotel.

Salesman Albert Feiss, 61, of St. Louis, has suffered three minor heart attacks and has been under a physician's care since the robbery was discovered last night.

Police theorized that the jewels may have been stolen under the cover of a trumped-up argument over a dinner check about midnight Wednesday.

The gems were insured by both the M. Gevertz Co., of New York, Feiss' employer, and the hotel.

Assistant Hotel Manager William T. Lanham explained that the door through the manager's office to the vault was unlocked. He said the thief could have obtained the key to the box where the jewels were kept by reaching around a partition.

Governor Warren's Daughter Improves

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Nina Warren, 17-year-old daughter of California's governor, was reported making progress today in her fight against polio, although she was not yet out of danger.

Dr. Junius B. Harris, one of three attending physicians, said that the girl who Gov. Earl Warren affectionately calls "Honey Bear", seems "very happy and her spirits are good".

Nina was hospitalized Tuesday as California voters were giving the governor a smashing victory over James Roosevelt in re-electing him for a third term.

Marine Corps Has Birthday Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The 175-year-old Marine Corps observed its birthday today as it has so often in the past—fighting at the front.

Many leathernecks with U. N. forces in Korea are too busy upholding their famous tradition to celebrate. Defense Secretary Marshall declared in a formal anniversary greeting that "their morale, efficiency and successes" are in full accord with marine tradition.

Marshall heartily congratulated the marines on their "courage, patriotism and achievement in defending American institutions."

The marine corps recently accepted presidential apologies after President Truman's reference to it as a "police force" aroused both the nation and the leathernecks.

St. Michael's Group Activities Planned

Sodality of St. Michael's church received holy communion in a body at early mass on November 5. A sodality meeting followed.

A special event was planned for November 13-16 at the church. Mary Hudak is the chairman. December 3 is the next meeting date.

Scores Inequities In Reserve Calls

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—Inequities in present regulations regarding the call to active duty of reservists and guardsmen and of men drafted for the Armed Forces were scored today by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Ralls said that the present system of calling National Guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the V. F. W.

He called for early revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up Armed Forces personnel.

"One glaring inequity seems to be that inactive Reservists with service disabilities ranging up to 30 per cent or more are being recalled and placed on limited active duty. Certainly, some of the deferred draftees could also serve on limited duty where some physical qualities may be lacking.

Local Vets At Tri-County Meet

Delegates from Cpl. Harry L. McBride Post, No. 522, and Neshannock Post, No. 315, V. F. W., were in Stoneboro Thursday evening, where they attended the monthly meeting of the Tri-County Council.

Charles Kelly, of Butler, presided in the absence of Charles Uber, tri-county commander, who has been called into service.

Various matters of importance to the V. F. W. program were discussed. The appointment of James J. Dennis, of McBride Post, to be assistant chief of staff, for Lawrence, Mercer, and Butler counties was announced at the meeting. He will be over the district deputies.

SNUFF SALES UP

LONDON—London tobacconists report that snuff taking is increasing in Britain particularly among women. There are now 500,000 regular snuff takers in the country, they estimated, and $1,400,000 worth is produced annually. Men and women who are not allowed to smoke at work are helping to boost the snuff sales, the tobacconists claimed. About a quarter of the snuff takers are women.

PROGRESS HURTS

CEDAR VALE, Kan.—This Kansas town is feeling a peculiar pinch of progress. The water department faces a deficit operation because the Missouri Pacific Railroad decided to put in diesel engines in place of steam locomotives. That took away the town's largest water customer. The railroad's bill had averaged almost $75 a month.

Argument Over Parking Of Car Is Murder Cause

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A 61-year-old Harrisburg steel worker will be charged with murder today for shooting a Washington, D. C., man in an argument over the spot where the latter parked his car.

Police said Jessie Burney climaxed a verbal argument by seizing a .12 gauge shotgun and firing at William Johnson, 35, a former resident of Harrisburg, last night.

A witness told police that Burney had warned Johnson not to park his car near a corner because it would block traffic. Burney lives two doors away. Johnson ignored the warning and went away. When he returned Burney again told him to move the car. The argument followed and Johnson angered at the repeated warnings, charged Burney.

According to the witness, Burney then reached inside his doorway and pulled out the gun and fired.

Friends told police Johnson came to Harrisburg early in the week to vote in last Tuesday's general election.

Plan Public Forum At Ellwood City

The meeting sponsored by the Economic and Business Foundation of New Wilmington, will have chairman, William L. Dean, president of the Matthews Conveyor company, Ellwood City. Dr. Paton will explain what Social Security and pension plans will mean to companies and individuals in the years ahead.

The meeting planned as an open forum, can be attended by interested individuals who contact Dr. A. M. Paxson at New Wilmington or Odd H. McCleary at the Matthews Conveyor company at Ellwood City. Music will be provided by the Pittsburgher quartet, champion barber shop group with Ermel Branstetter at the piano and Anthony Casbero, violinist.

Important Business

By N. R. CASILLO

Teaching is my business. I like to teach. There is neither sentiment nor altruism attached to it either. I don't teach solely to see the unfolding of a personality or for some other equally vague reason. I teach because it is my business.

Teachers differ not at all from the followers of scores of other professions, except that teachers influence the destinies of boys and girls. Lawyers attempt to either convict or vindicate, physicians attempt a cure; in either case a service is rendered. Teachers also mold not one but many youthful aspirant's for their proper place in tomorrow's world.

Lawyers, physicians, surgeons, psychiatrists and others whose professions deal with humans, ordinarily concern themselves with individual cases. Teachers, on the other had, are expected to deal with dozens, frequently scores of individuals at a time, seeking to strike the divine spark in as many varying personalities and capacities for learning. Most of them do render a service, attempting to it efficiently too.

The classroom is my office. I arrive at a designated hour and busy myself with details until the arrival of, shall I say, my customers. You know, it's positively interesting to watch the various pupils as they come into the room. Some go immediately to their seats to prepare what work they can before the activities of "A" period. Gossipy souls gyrate to each other to exchange a choice tidbit or two, some will at once plunge into unfinished or proposed class business, buzzing about the room interviewing, questioning or even collecting dues for this or that activity. When the bell launches the period, it is a satisfaction to the teacher to see most if his charges awaiting the opening of the formal business of the day. The teacher takes over.

"How can you stand that routine and those noisy kids is something that I'll never fathom," observed a well-meaning friend. He is one of several sub-managers of a supermarket and he derides routine. Another well-meaner bluntly called me a sucker for remaining in the game. "Get out and make yourself some real dough," he urged. I recalled that during the depression he called me a "lucky stiff." However, I let it pass and simply retorted that teaching is my business.

Teaching is one commodity which does not change with fluctuating prices, and no one knows it better that the teacher himself. Conscientious teaching has but one standard. It differs not at all whether done in learned university halls or in the most humble single room building.

Did I say commodity? Well, if human relationships and their vast number of ramifications are considered, then, teaching is an adventure in human experiences that has no counterpart. Good teaching develops individuals who are prepared to tackle the obstacles barring the way to a full life. That sounds like very important business. Can you think of any other profession that deals with more precious values. That's why I like to teach.

WOOSTER, O.—(INS)—Did anyone ever see the moon collapse? Well just ask young Lloyd Stevens of Wooster because he has. Lloyd came home from school one day and announced that he was going out for the night. When asked "What for?" Lloyd answered, "To see the collapse of the moon. A boy at school told me the moon was going to collapse tonight."

Between 40 and 50 gold mines operate along a 50-mile stretch of South Africa's "Rand."

Postpone Plans To Select Unknown Soldier Of War II

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(INS)—The Defense Department today postponed indefinitely all plans for selecting the unkown soldier of World War II.

Previously, elaborate arrangements had been made to return unidentified bodies from all war theaters to the U. S. for selection by lot of one to be entomed with the unknown soldier of World War I in Arlington National Cemetery.

The final section was to have been made in Independence Hall at Philadelphia next May 26 with burial ceremonies scheduled for May 30.

A Defense Department spokesman said that it now is considered inappropriate to select the unknown soldier at a time when fighting may still be in progress in Korea.

He said that the ceremonies will be rescheduled at a time when the nation can devote more undivided attention to paying homage to its unkown dead.

Court Decision In City Pension Plan Is Given

Thursday's News carried in brief the story of the invalidation of the pension plan for city officers and employes. Because of the time element, the story was necessarily confined to a brief account of the action of the Lawrence county court.

Because the decision is one which concerns a question of public importance, the gist of the opinion and order is carried today in this article. Some background of the case may refresh the reader's memory.

Effective December 1, 1947

Late in 1947 the question of pensions for city employes and elected officers was considered by the City Council. At that time the Council consisted of Mayor John F. Haven and Councilmen D. O. Davies, James Gibson, Joseph D. Alexander and Albert A. Hoyland.

After some consideration an ordinance was drafted under the Act of May 23, 1945, of the Pennsylvania General Assembly. This ordinance was adopted December 1, 1947, and became effective December 15, 1947. All five of the Council voted for the ordinance.

An officers' and employes' retirement fund was established and the following persons have been serving upon it: Mayor John F. Haven, Councilman Albert A. Hoyland, Edith Cleaveland, City Controller Charles Kennedy and Charles M. O'Brien.

In 1948 the city appropriated $12,000 to the fund; in 1948, $16,000, and in 1950, $15325.43.

Suit Is Entered

Some time ago Jacob F. Genkinger entered a suit in equity against the city asking that the pension fund be declared illegal upon the grounds that it was "unconstitutional and a waste of tax money".

The case was heard by Judges W Walter Braham and John G. Lamoree. On Thursday the opinion and order came down. It is quoted below, but not entirely in detail. Ctiations of cases and precedents have been omitted as being merely buttressing the opinion and order. The quotations below are taken verbatim from the opinion and order. They follow.

Opinion and Order

"It is a general rule of law that no member of a municipal council shall vote on any question involving his own character or conduct, his right as a member, or his pecuniary interest if that is immediate, particular and distinct from the public interest."

"The prohibition is not an absolute one. It is not every interest which will disqualify."

"Section 903 of the Third Class City Code of 1931 provides, no city shall increase or diminish the salary, compensation, emoluments of any elected officer after his election. As to this provision it has been held that the establishment of a system of retirement pay under which the beneficiary contributes regularly a part of his pay is not an increase of salary but merely deferred compensation."

Some Qualifications

"The rule forbidding an elected official to use his power to vote advantage to himself is subject to one important qualification unless specifically authorized to do so. The Mayor and Council of a city of the third class are creatures of the legislature, the city tiself is but an agent of the state. The legislature may authorize councilmen to fix their own salaries and to raise them during the term. It may authorize the council to pass a pension ordinance which may include the elected officers of the city as well as their subordinates. If, then, the mayor and the councilmen in the case at bar have done only what the legislature authorized them to do, it does not matter whether in doing so they have advanced their own interest."

"If these officers had stopped at the point allowed by the statute they might have obtained important advantages, the right to retire at age 60 on a pension of half pay after 20 years of service, the right after 20 years service to retire and by continuing payments to age 55 obtain a full pension, the right if involuntarily retired after 12 years of service and before 20 years of service to retire and get the fractional pention which his years of servic bears to 20, the right if involuntarily retired after 20 years of service to get a full pension for the rest of his life, and the right if totally disabled after 15 years of service to a full pension during his disability.

Did Not Follow

"'But Council did not follow the statute faithfully. The members went beyond the statute in ways which will now be detailed.

1—They attempted to set up, not a compulsory system of retirement to which all must belong but a voluntary system.

2—Section 7-D of the ordinance, although obscure, goes beyond Section 4-B of the statue by allowing one involuntarily retired after 12 years of service to continue to make payments up until age 60 and thereby to increase his fractional pension to a full pension.

3—Section 7-E of the ordinance attempts to improve upon Section 4-B of the statute by providing that an elected official who has served 12 years may retire voluntarily and draw a partial pension which, by continuing payments until age 60, may be increased to a full pension. Section 7-D and 7-E of the ordinance require the public to continue to appropriate to the building up of a fund to increase the pension of one who has left the employ of the city. The statute nowhere provides for such an expenditure.

4—Section 4-B of the statue allows a disability pension for one has served 15 years but has not reached the age of 55; but 7-F of the ordinance goes much further and allows a disability pension after one years service and attempts to guarantee the disabled officer of employe his job back once the disability is removed, obviously impossible in many cases.

5—The statute is silent as to amendment, but Section 14 of the ordinance provides that if the ordinance is amended at any time without the consent of more than 50 per cent of the contributors to or beneficiaries of the fund, the fund shall be liquidated upon a petition to the board signed by a majority of the contributors and beneficiaries. This is a startling idea.

May Be Good

Finally, may some parts of this ordinance be good under the severability clause contained therein? This is a matter which has caused us grave concern because most of the beneficiaries under the ordinance are not elected officials but humble employes. Is it possible to sustain the ordinance as to the employes while striking it down as to elected officials. This may be the place to observe that, contrary to much that has been said, there is nothing in the law to prevent adoption of a pension system, applicable to elected officials as well as employes.

"Except possibly for the portions of the ordinance which purports to give the contributors control of the fund we are of the opinion that the ordinance might be sustained within the limits of the statute. It would have to be sustained, however, both for officers and for employes. There is no true line of distinction between officers and employes except the personal interest of the officers whose vote was necessary to the passage of the ordinance the legal result of their voting where they had a personal interest was to render void their handiwork.

"It is to be regretted that the employes must suffer with the offending officers; but it is better that new provision be made for the employes than that public officers be encouraged to legislate in their own interests by the hope of success of the ordinance is not challenged and only mild modification if opposition arises. The common law and the statute say the results of action by legislators acting in their own interests is void; so void this ordinance is."

Conclusions Of Law

Here follow the conclusions of law by the court.

"1—The ordinance of the City of New Castle setting up a retirement system for the officers and employes goes beyond the limits authorized by the Act of 1945, P. L. 903, 57 P. S. 12198-4371-4384.

"2—Since the ordinance as drawn conferred important rights upon the mayor and councilmen who voted for it, beyond those authorized by the statute the officers were disqualified to adopt it.

"3—The disqualification to vote themselves and others not authorized by statute operated whether or not the officers disclosed their interest.

"4—Since all of the officers who voted for the ordinance were disqualified by their interest the ordinance is void.

"5—The ordinance is further void because it goes beyond the limits authorized by the statute."

Opinion And Order

Now this 9th day of November, AD, 1950, after hearing and full consideration of this case it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that; (1) the City of New Castle and its several officers and employes are hereby perpetually enjoined and restrained from paying any further moneys into the Officers and Employes Retirement Fund; (2) the Officers and Employes Retirement Board and its several officers and employes are perpetually enjoined and restrained from paying out any moneys as retirement pay and any retired officer and employe; (3) that the Officers and Employes Retirement Board return to the several contributors to the retirement fund their contribution without interest, deducting from those actually retired amounts already received and pay the remainder into the city treasurer. The costs are placed upon the City of New Castle.

This decree shall become absolute, unless exceptions be filed hereto within 10 days.

Strikers' President In Pittsburgh Is Without Phone

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—John F. Shaffer, president of the Pittsburgh division of the striking telephone workers union, hadn't any telephone service in his home today.

He said a man came and cut the telephone wires outside his home last night.

Police said the Bell Telephone company reported it disconnected the service because the telephone in Shaffer's home had been left off the hook, and the other person on the "two-party" line had asked the company to "do something".

Shaffer denied the telephone had been left intentionally off the hook and said he thought the whole business was "just too bad".

Woman To Be Named To Important Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The White House is expected to announce today appointment of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg as the first woman in history to receive a civilian post of authority over the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The appointment by President Truman will be in response to a recommendation by Defense Secretary Marshall, who selected Mrs. Rosenberg to fill the assistant secretaryship left vacant by the resignation of Paul Griffith.

Another woman, Mrs. Mary E. Switzer, of Newton, Mass., got an important federal job today when Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing appointed her director of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation .

Republicans Gain In State Legislature

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The division of the state House of Representatives for the 1951 session was reported today by the speaker's office to be 120 Republicans and 88 Democrats.

The make-up represents a gain of three seats for the Republicans over the 1949 session, according to speaker's office which compiled the list.

Rat Campaign Date Is Fixed

Bait Will Be Put Out December 7

At a meeting held in the court house, Thursday evening, it was decided to have another county-wide rat eradication campaign this year, the date of December 7 being set for the distribution and placing of the bait.

Officers elected to take charge of the campaign, were. George Rainey, of North Beaver, chairman; and Robert Jamison, of Scott township, secretary and treasurer.

May Order Cut In Aluminum Use By General Public

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The National Production Authority may order a civilian consumption cut today where it will really be felt by the general public—in aluminum.

The order would call for a 25 per cent reduction in civilian use. Production of aluminum already is in short supply in some areas.

In one product alone—aluminum foil—the public has already felt the shortage. Foil, once available in almost every grocery and hardware store, has almost disappeared from retail counters.

NPA officials said that Administrator William H. Harrison was studying the aluminum measure and probably will issue the order this week end.

It is expected to be followed up with similar directives affecting civilian use of copper, nickel and cobalt.

Meeting Scheduled In Pittsburgh Newspaper Strike

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A meeting was scheduled today between the publishers of Pittsburgh's three strike-bound newspapers and the AFL newspaper mailers union.

The scheduled meeting follows one between publishers and officers of local 211, AFL teamsters union yesterday.

Speculation was rife that a resumption of meetings with the two newspaper unions was indication of a possible settlement in the 41-day-old strike.

Some 3,000 non-striking newspaper workers have idled since the mailers walked off the job on October 1 in a wage dispute with the publishers.

saying it was a tax on one corporation, not imposed on others.

Medure: He said he would vote for the increased tax on property, the 10 per cent amusement tax and also for the $15 raise in pay to employes.

Schweinsberg: He said he was in favor of the imposition of a tax on amusements but was opposed to an increase on property tax. He said he was opposed to allocating the pension fund to grant a raise. He also said he was opposed to granting married women a raise in pay.

Hoyland: He has indicated in past meetings, the same as today, that if the property tax millage was raised one mill, a 10 per cent amusement tax levied, a raise of $15 monthly could be given and the budget balanced.

Mayor Haven: He said he was in favor of the increased property tax, the amusement tax and the $15 monthly wage boost for both men and women, adding that if the men now on pension had to give back what they received as a pension, he would contribute more than his share to help them, and was in favor of giving city employes, not now protected by pensions, a 30 per cent raise in wages.

During one discussion, Mayor Haven said some people had inferred that because he is not a candidate for mayor, he did not care what happened to the budget.

He said such an inference was wrong, adding: "I want the budget completed, but I want to be fair," after which he indicatted he might "run again for mayor".

Attempt To Flee From Identity Proves Failure

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS)—For nearly all the 33 years of his life Ralph Capone, Jr., nephew of the infamous "Scarface Al," fled from his real identity in a desperate try for respectability and success.

The flight always failed.

Yesterday it ended.

Capone was found dead in a room of his Chicago apartment. Near his body was a half-empty bottle of whisky. Also in the room was a bottle of cold pills bearing a label warning against use in conjunction with liquor. On the desk was a note in an almost unintelligible scrawl. It told of his love affair, nearly ruined—as everything else was—by the notorious surname.

Pittsburgh Business Shows Decrease

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Business in the Pittsburgh district took a nose dive last week.

The bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh, reported the index of the 1935-39 average dipped from 200.5 to 195.7 last week.

The survey showed department store sales off appreciably. Gross volume dropped to only two per cent ahead of last year when a steel strike gripped the Steel City. This would indicate department stores are hard hit by the current newspaper strike.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF HOME ECONOMICS CLUBS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

National 4-H Achievement Week, November 4-12, 1950 is one of two special weeks, devoted to 4-H club work, which 4-H club members throughout the nation join in observing each year.

Lawrence county 4-H Home Economics club members join other 4-H'ers in Pennsylvania in celebrating the National Week. During the past year 278 girls were enrolled in 23 club in home economics projects in Lawrence county. A listing of the clubs and members is:

11 Clothing projects clubs with 180 members.

4 Fun to Cook clubs with 46 members.

2 When You Entertain clubs with 21 members.

1 Preserve and Serve club with 5 members.

1 Outdoor Cookery club with 10 members.

1 Lunch Box club with 8 members.

1 Child Care club with 8 members.

Eight of these clubs had 100 per cent completion and eight others had 85 per cent or better completion.

The club members also participated in other county-wide events which included the District 4-H Camp with 36 attending; Leadership school at Pennsylvania State college with 2 attending; Club Week at Pennsylvania State college with 8 attending, and the final event of Round-Up with 250 girls attending and exhibiting their projects.

A number of the clubs observed Rural Life Sunday and presented programs in their communities. Family picnics were also enjoyed by a number of the clubs. A community or Individual Service Project was part of the club program. The club members carried out the following services: food gifts to various organizations, placed flowers in the church, visited the sick; made scrapbooks for local hospitals and held "Clean-Up" day in their communities.

The 4-H clubs, their officers and members, along with their leaders in local communities, have done a fine job this past year and are to be congratulated.

CLOTHING PLAYS ROLE IN CHILD'S GROWTH

Clothing has a great deal to do with the kind of character traits a child develops. For instance, self-consciousness, a stage that many children pass through, may be over-developed by clothes that fit poorly, are unbecoming, or are not appropriate. Attractive and suitable clothes may help a child through this period quickly, or help him to avoid it altogether.

Unsuitable clothing also can increase timidity and bashfulness, much emphasis on clothing, so that clothes become all-important to a child, may cause bragging. And bragging may lead to unpopularity.

Brigt colors, such as red, yellow, or orange, may be too stimulating to a child. They may cause him to become nervous and over-excitable. In time it is possible his emotional and physical health may suffer. Softer colors like rose, blue and green have a soothing and quieting effect.

Children sometimes develop manners and attitudes of older persons when they are dressed like older boys and girls or adults. This may cause them to have experiences or demand privileges that they are not yet ready for.

Four Killed In County Last Month

Three hundred and forty-three motor patrols were made over a distance of 81,612 miles in Lawrence county during October, according to State Police.

They report that four persons were killed and 28 hurt, which was an increase of four killed and six injured, compared to October, a year ago.

Property damage amounted to $15,364, was sustained in the wrecks.

Both the tin and steel in a tin can are reclaimable.

Tibet Invasion Unjustified Says Indian Leader

NEW DELHI—Nov. 10—(INS)—Indian Deputy Premier Vallabhbhai Jahverbhai Patel branded the Chinese Communist invasion of Tibet as an "unjustified attack."

He said that Indians must be prepared to "meet any challenge that might come from any quarter."

The deputy Premier declared that the incident in both Tibet and the Kingdom of Nepal, where the kind has been dethroned, have created "new dangers."

In a reference to the current actions of Communist China he said that the use of arms might touch off a new world war.

Patel indicated that India will refuse to recognize the change in government at Nepal where noblemen who rule the feudal state replaced the regime of Dhiraj Tribhubana Dir Bikram.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Ladies, to be modish, must be mannish next spring.

The big-name designers generally agreed that the newest 1951 silhouette will be: straight again, simple again, and definitely more man-tailored than this winter's slim 'n' graceful ilne.

The return to the mannish means a strong return of the one-button suit—a suit that buttons at the waistline and has deep, low-notched lapels. Under such tailored jackets, the popular blouse will be the severe, plain round-necked and collarless style.

Most decoration on these new spring suits will appear at the hipline, where jacket peplums will be stiffened, or decorated with braid or hemline cuffs or buttons.

Once again, it'll be sort of a man's world!

Hillsville Seaman Recently Commended

William Karns Will Speak At Leesburg

During the regular meeting of the Leesburg Youth for Christ which will take place Saturday, November 11 in the Leesburg Presbyterian church, talent night will be observed, when various youth will be heard in vocal and instrumental selections.

The speaker for the hour will be William Karns, a district youth, will close the service with an evangelistic address. A good period of singspiration will be enjoyed during the meeting.

Congregationalists Church Attendance Campaign Has Begun

At the weekly prayer service of the First Congregational church on Wednesday evening, the campaign for an augmented church attendance was launched.

Each of those in attendance was given an assignment, together with a warranty which contained a separate portion of the Holy Scripture. The campaign will continue until the end of 1950, which will be supplemented with a Bible Reading Crusade, beginning on Thanksgiving Day.

The secret sponsor's plan of church attendance has been in operation for the past two months, and culminated Wednesday evening with the set goal having been reached. A 100 per cent increase in prayer meeting attendance has been reached and passed.

The campaign is now extended to the regular Sunday services, and will begin immediately. The secret sponsors were instructed by the pastor, and a successful culmination is looked forward to at the end of the year.

At their disposal, the sponsors have had recordings of the mid-week prayer services, which they may use on their promotional work.

A brief congregational meeting was held at the close of the service, Henry T. Jones presiding, at which time it was decided to have the Thanksgiving service on November 23, at 10 in the morning.

Shenango Juniors Will Have Party

The first activity of the junior class of the Shenango high school is to be an informal "get acquainted" party on Friday, Nov. 10, at the school gym. There are many activities planned for the evening, with dancing provided for those interested.

Other games and features will be presented, with the recreation committee consisting of Mary Lou Munnell, Fritz McGary and Harry Jermakowicz. Members of the food committee are Peggy Moore, Jean Reed, June Reed, Barbara Burkes, Mary Lou Trimble and Jeanne Adamcyzk, and they are preparing refreshments to be served to the entire group.

Norma Quarterson, Donna Smith, Bob Feil, Don Cochran, Helen Cobler and Mary Aley will be in charge of decorating the gym in fall colors, with floral leaf decorations.

Other committees which are helping to make this activity a success are the invitation committee, which is composed of Irene Kervi and David McKee, the class officers and the class sponsor, Miss Leora McCommon.

Youth Symphony Begins Practice

Forty members of the New Castle Youth Symphony orchestra attended the rehearsal Tuesday evening at the Ben Franklin junior high school, Worrell M. Jones, president of the Symphony association, stated today.

The group is planning a program and hopes to present a premier of the symphony sometime in the spring.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Rocking Them To Sleep

Section 1. The first part of the 20th century and earlier. Mother gently rocks baby to sleep as he lies in her arms.

Scene 2. From the late 1920's on until the early '40's. Mother firmly puts crying baby in his crib, goes out and shuts the door.

Scene 3. Today. Crying baby is held, talked to and rocked.

Yes, things do change. And sometimes they bring us back right to where we were. For a time the "scientific" approach in child care seemed to dictate the necessity of not "spoiling" a baby by comforting him when he was unhappy. To be sure, many a mother had overdone the picking up and rocking to a point where the baby became a little dictator. Constant demand for this sort of attention took up too much of the family's time and also led to a self-centered child who failed to learn to take others into consideration as he grew.

But there's a middle way, and many a parent is following it today. Babies and children too, need comforting now and then. Nor is such comforting harmful if it's not overdone. Indeed, the satisfaction that comes with cuddling may lay the basis for a sturdy independence that neglect cannot supply. Naturally, the young one needs to learn to go to sleep without special attention. And he will do this if, when for some reason he is upset, he is not left to cry it out.

PAINT BRUSH

A small paint brush is handy for removing crumbs from an electrict toaster or waffle iron. (Disconnect the appliance first!)

Vets, Auxiliary Enjoyable Party

B. & O. Veterans and Martha Horchler Auxiliary gathered for a pleasurable party Wednesday evening at the Ecclesian hall, honoring the past presidents of the organizations.

A bountiful ham dinner was served to about 75 members and several out-of-town guests. Mrs. Leo Whalen gave the invocation. Tables were beautifully decorated in the Thanksgiving motif. A small train on a mound of leaves, gourds, thistles, et cetera, centered the speaker's table, with additional articles of the same type decorating the tables. Fall flowers and candles also graced the tables. Favors were little cups of candy with the B. & O. insignia.

Decorations and the serving of the delicious meal were in charge of the following committee: Mrs. T. J. LaRock, chairman; Mrs. Fred Freese, Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. William Ronk, and Mrs. O. F. Sheaffer.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. H. H. Wilfong, grand president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, from Garrett, Ind.; Roy Collins, of Staten Island, N. Y., grand president of the men's organization; and Mrs. J. E. Resseger, of Willard, O., president of the Willard group.

During the evening five past presidents of the Martha Horchler Auxiliary were presented with pins, the presentation being in charge of Mrs. Wilfong, assisted by Mrs. Perry Birk and Mrs. J. E. Resseger. The five ladies were Mrs. J. A. Walters, Mrs. Myron Olmstead, Mrs. Leo Whalen, Mrs. R. L. Drumheller, and Mrs. Paul T. Bender.

Later various games were played with prizes being won by Mrs. Drumheller, Mrs. Wilfong, John Casasanta, and Carl Jewell.

An exchange of gifts will feature the Christmas party to be held December 13 at the Ecclesian hall.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—Morgan Bosmeyer is the only chef in the world who hates to cook and who makes a profit out of a plastic salad.

He makes his living making artificial food for the movies. He has made everything from a phoney turkey to a nonedible dish of pistachio ice cream. He currently is practicing his art on the set of "Up Front" with David Wayne and Tom Ewell at Universal-International.

In an Italian restaurant sequence in which the two actors, as the famed G.I. cartoon characters, Willie and Joe, make passes at the new film beauty from Rome, Marina Berti, they are all required to eat a shrimp salad and a dish of spaghetti. It is far less expensive to keep shrimp salads in stock down at the prop shot to be used year after year in dozens of pictures than it is to hire a chef and buy all the trimmings for the real thing.

"My salads," said Bosmeyer, "are guaranteed to last 10 years if they are properly handled."

Secret Compound

Using a secret plastic compound and oil paints, "Boz" whips up a salad with lettuce, shrimps, rich dressing and garnished with parsley that is completely real as close as five feet and can only be discerned as a phony when actually touched—or eaten.

"While my specialty seems to have run to salads in the past few years," said Bosmeyer who made a bizarre Egyptian salad for "The Prince Who Was a Thief" and a three-tone green avocado number for "Don Renegade," "there actually are no limits to my ability to prepare plastic food."

Bosmeyer's career as "the chef who hates to cook" began 20 years ago on a film called "The Man from Blankley's" with John Barrymore. Boz was working as a prop man. Through someone's error only one roast beef had been cooked for a dinner sequence. When the scene had to be reshot the beef had already been carved and partially eaten. A new one had to be on hand in less time that it would take to buy and cook one. Boz went to the prop shop where he had been experimenting with rubber for just such a time, threw together a fast phoney hunk of beef and his reputation was made.

The strange thing about this most popular chef among the major studios is that, a bachelor, he hates to cook and "can't boil water." He lives in a single room without a stove and eats all his meals out.

Maintains Russians Are Using Fear As Weapon In 'Cold War'

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Frank M. Howley, military governor of the U. S. zone of Berlin during the famed airlift, said the Russians are using fear as an effective weapon in the European "cold war."

"They maintain a constant barrage of fear against the United States and its allies and will never permit any slackening of that barrage as long as they realize they can get away with it," Howley told several hundred reserve officers and men last night.

However, Howley said, the Russians "will never attack unless they have long odds on victory." To assure that they never have long odds, Howley, military governor of Berlin for four years, advocated a strong United States military establishment.

Air Corps General Advocates Revamping Of Entire Air Force

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding general of the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base, called last night for a revamping of the entire U. S. Air Force and said the Russians already are capable of hitting "any point in the country" by air.

Kenney told an Air Force association dinner at Savannah that the B-29's ued in Korea "are now six years old and would not last long against any real air opposition."

He urged expanded construction of new type long-range bombers and said the Soviet Union will be tempted to take the U. S. "by the scruff of the neck" when it stockpiles more modern bombs and bomb carriers.

The Air University head urged support of a strong national defense act and said "the amount of protection Americans get is up to themselves."

Opening Night At The 'Met'

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(INS)—It has taken a little time, but I have finally figured out what has put the Indian sign on opening night audience at the Metropolitan Opera.

The trouble, as every American with a television set or a saloon next door could see for himself earlier this week, is that people no longer attend the opening night. Instead, the old 'Met" on the night of its annual premier is swamped with press agents and their clients.

I do not decry this trend; I merely wish to set it before the public for its cogitation. This innovation may even be progress for all I know.

After all, why should Miss Helene Cholmondeley (pronounced "Murphy") hog the spotlight and the television screen on opening night when she has a poke-ful of inherited dough while little Miss Tootsie Lammotte, the Gonover model, and a self-made doll, is on the still hunt for some to inherit?

Advance Publicity

A careful survey of the advance publicity releases received by International News Service with reference to the Met's recent opening reveals that the net weight of the material was a long ton, and plugged such oddities as bosomy television actresses, perfume, diamonds, couturiers, milliners, shoes, bras, hair oil, handbags, furs, nail lacquer, automobiles, assorted social climbers, boiled shirts and champagne suitable for wetting the whistle between operas.

But let us return to our friend, Miss Tootsie Lammotte, the Gonover model and toast of cafe society uptown and downtown. A press agent for a shoe manufacturer rushed word that at the opening of the opera, Miss Lammotte (pronounced Smith) would wear shoes.

This in itself was stop-press news as Tootsie, on her arrival in New York three years ago, was a bare foot girl with cheek. But Tootsie was also a natural blonde and today she is not only wearing shoes as to the manor born but $275 numbers, including—of course—the price of the rhinestone heels. For Tootsie, as the P. A. pointed out, has a way with heels.

Then there was a powerful communique from the public relations counsel of a leading perfumer. It informed us that Mme. Montage-Montmorency, nee Rosie Jukes, would appear at the Met's opening laved in a quart of that sensational new scent, "head for the hills, folks, the dam has bust."

Difference Of Opinion

With "head for the hills, etc.," selling at $89 an ounce, this made Mme. Montage-Montmorency the most expensively laved woman at the Met, stacking up to about $4,901.59 in Coolidge dollars, although some folks on opening night thought that Faye Emerson was even better stacked.

However, as I always say, it's such differences of opinion that earn rides in the paddy-wagon for bookies.

A rush bulletin from the public relations experts representing the diamond industry bore the gladsome news that Miss Violetta Stromboli, the Met's new coloratura, would attend the opening in a diamond tiara simulating, for the first time, the Taj-Mahal, and presented to Miss Stromboli by an Indian prince who must be nameless because of taxation and the trying jealousy of his 250 wives.

At this point, let it be said that all the press agents and their clients turned up per schedule on opening night, pushing, clawing, fighting and gouging for first place on the television screen and the photographers' lenses.

The Met's opening is also a carnival for the town's dressmakers, or couturiers as they call themselves since they get $450 for a cotton blouse without use of a gun.

Only one couturier and his press agent met complete defeat this season. Mr. Claude, couturier who is so exclusive that he only sees one client, Mrs. Astor's horse, and then only on alternate Wednesdays, designed for this ravishing creature a surcingle and farthingdale of imported muslin embroidered in oyster shells and pigeon-blood rubies.

But alas, the authorities refused admission to Mrs. Astor's horse this year. But don't worry — the way things are now going on opening nights at the Met, the critter will make it in '51.

Girl Scout Council Evaluates Program

Council of the New Castle Girl Scout area assembled Tuesday in the scout office, North Mercer street, with Miss Emily Rice, Commissioner, presiding.

Part of the evening was spent in evaluating the past year's activities. Scouting has advanced with 1,096 registered scouts. Many more girls want to become scouts, but lack of leadership has limited the number.

Mrs. D. B. Forsyth, executive director, has worked tirelessly for the advancement of this year's successful scouting. Mrs. Forsyth and her able volunteers have trained more leaders, making it possible to open scouting to more girls.

The leaders and their assistants deserve a great deal of credit for the years' work, as they have helped the girls to become good citizens. A great deal of civic work has been done by the troops who are eager to do more along that line.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. N. J. McCluskey and Mrs. C. C. McDermott at the evening's close.

New Castle Man Shares In Patent Grant On Spring

On October 24, 1950, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,527,423 on a "Leaf Spring" to Willard F. Perdue, New Castle, and Frederick T. Rowland, Emsworth, Pa.

Leaf springs are used extensively to support the chassis of a motor vehicle upon its axle and to absorb the shocks caused by road irregularities. In their general construction, they comprise a number of superposed and nested leaves disposed adjacent a main leaf member that has its opposite ends rolled to form eyes by which the assembly is pivoted to the parts of the vehicle with which it is associated.

In order to keep the bending stresses of these springs low, it has been necessary to use thin leaves. However, a thin main leaf results in a reduction in the strength of its eyes; and, as a consequence, there is a likelihood that the spring will collapse in the event of failure of the main leaf at any point.

It is the object of this invention of Messrs. Perdue and Rowland to overcome this limitation, and thus they have devised a construction wherein a specially designed "wrapper" leaf, made up to two sections, is positioned directly underneath the main leaf. An eye is formed at the outer end of each of these wrapper sections, thereby affording a reinforcement for those of the main leaf. Included also are a locking plate that is located between the inner ends of the wrapper sections, and a bolt that passes through the entire structure.

In the use of this arrangement of Messrs. Perdue and Rowland, the locking plate and one of the wrapper leaf sections come into operation in the case of failure of the main spring and prevent collapsing of the main assembly. In other words, the latter continues to function as a whole, thereby preventing injury to other parts of the vehicle, such as axle, drive shaft and steering mechanism, until the broken main leaf can be replaced by a new one.

In The Open

November wasted no time in calling a halt to the dreamy Indian Summer, which had entranced the countryside through a maze of golden days. The ninth month came on stage in a final burst of mellow sun-glow, then suddenly switched the theme and pushed across a heavy overcast. The skies fairly wept as they mourned the passing of another gorgeous Autumn. Soon the receptive fields were surfeited and the runoff bullied its way to the valley streams, which promptly threatened to burst at the seams as they freighted the turgid load out to the seven seas.

I plodded along through the dismal downpour, patrolling the edge of a wide reservoir which reached back through the mist-curtained hills. In a tiny cat-tail slough almost at my feet there was a sudden splash as a surprised water bird went under. I watched carefully and finally picked out the tiny wake made by the exposed bill of a grebe as the scary little fellow went away from there.

Five Of The Dippers

There had been five of the dippers feeding in the shallows. When they had put fifty yards of open water between us they all came up on top, craning their long necks to watch my next move. The grebe was using the snorkel long before the U-boat planners dreamed it up. At the approach of danger this odd migrant can either dive expertly deep below the surface, or sink into the water until only the bill is showing.

Just beyond the grebe quintet a pair of loons rode at anchor in the choppy water. There is no mistaking these big fellows with their long sharp bills. They will stay until the big ponds are ice-locked, picking up a fish dinner now and then, but mostly just yachting around taking life easy.

Magnificent Canada Geese

There were several big birds loafing along the opposite shore, some 200 yards distant. The field glasses brought them in sharp and clear as a flock of sixteen magnificent Canada geese. They were standing about, preening themselves at the water's edge, probably resting for their next long hop toward the Chesapeake country.

The countryman is always thrilled at the sight of these great birds. Each year they write an epic of tremendous courage and resourcefulness across the skies. They had seen me long before I discovered them and stood there watchfully, every eye noting me carefully across that wide expanse of rain-swept open water.

I moved back into the willow screen and moseyed along to a spot where I was perhaps 50 yards closer to the alerted flock. Just as I focussed on them a twelve-gauge shotgun blasted at a rabbit near by. This put the great honkers into the air. Their tremendous wings took them upstairs slowly, but in a few moments the flock had settled into flying positions, with the leader out in front of the wedge, in full command.

Felt Well Repaid

I felt well repaid for the discomfort of sloshing around through the thickets just to see those geese in flight formation above the dam. They made one wide sweep, etched in beauty against the lowering clouds, then struck off across the hills to a neighboring reservoir. No wonder the poets and the artists find inspiration in the derring-do of these stirring birds.

Three black ducks got up from the head of the dam when I crossed over into the timberland. The usual Winter patrol was parading through the trees. I saw the brown creeper and the little downy woodpecker. There was even one kinglet in the entourage of chickadees and titmice and juncoes and tree sparrows which made merry despite the dank gloominess of the woods.

I halted in the swale where the skunk cabbage augers were already through the muck, pointing toward the distant Springtime. The drizzle turned into a heavier downpour and I could see the busy fingers of the rain tamping the sodden leaf mulch into place about the great tree boles. Somewhere in the undergrowth a belated cricket sang an occasional mournful note—a final requiem before he closed his fiddle case forever.

Advises Motorists To Adjust Thinking Habits For Winter

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10—(INS)—The Keystone Motor Club today advised Pennsylvania's motorists to adjust their thinking and habits as well as adjusting their cars during the coming winter months.

"Careless parking on streets and highways made hazardous by winter weather often leads to serious accidents," said club manager Harold P. Pierce.

"Double-parking, stopping on heavily traveled highways, leaving the car bogged down, all cause accidents when highway surfaces are slippery and uncertain," Pierce said.

But instead of memorizing a long list of do's and don't's, Pierce said motorists should rely on common sense.

Margaret Truman Makes Wax Recording

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Margaret's done the next best thing to putting it in writing—she's put it on wax.

President Truman's daughter made her first recordings in New York yesterday under her RCA-Victor contract. She plans to complete her present recording date by the end of the week and then resume her nation-wide tour.

The initial waxings for Miss Truman's first album included a group of early American songs. She was accompanied by an orchestra directed by Robert Shaw and by the Robert Shaw chorale.

Another Man Is Investigated In Black Dahlia Crime

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Max Handler, 25th man to confess the Black Dahlia murder and whose admission checks on three points, will be given a lie test today.

Los Angeles homicide detectives were beginning to believe that perhaps a break finally has come in the mutilation slaying of Elizabeth Short, Hollywood party girl who was tortured and killed in January, 1947.

The first American native to visit England is believed to have been an Indian taken there by Sir Richard Grenville from Roanoke Island, N. C., in 1585.

Red Hurricane Will Wind Up 1950 Season At Turtle Creek Tonight

Ten New Castle Gridders Ending Schoolboy Careers

New Castle High School football team winds up its 1950 season tonight at Turtle Creek. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Playing their final game with the Red Hurricane eleven will be Bucky Tate, Dante DeFalco, John Sansone, Ray Latsko, Adolph Bober, Sam Perrino, Anthony Marino, Paul Bucker, Joe Csiszer and Lee Richeal.

Though they have dropped four games and tied one this season the Creekers are still considered a pretty rough outfit. They completely dominated the play in their opener with Central Catholic but lost out 14-13 on two long plays.

They also gave powerful Munhall a terrific battle several weeks ago, playing it on even terms all the way, until a Turtle Creek fumble gave Munhall a score.

George Cifra, hard running fullback, has been the most consistent ground gainer for Turtle Creek. The Creekers operate out of the T-formation with Ferdi handling the ball.

New Castle will have most of last week's invalids back in action for the game and will be in better physical condition than it has been for several weeks.

Several of the backs are still not in A-1 condition, but should be ready to see action.

Latsko, Perrino Play Final Games

Ray Latsko

Ray Latsko and Sam Perrino will play their final football games for New Castle high school tonight at Turtle Creek.

Ray has been the Red Hurricanes most consistant ground gainer this season, averaging 5.25 yards per carry in 60 attempts. He has also developed into the team's ablest passer, and has been especially effective on the throwing end of the screen pass, with John Sansone his favorite target.

This is Ray's third season on the squad and his second as a regular. He was in and out of the starting lineup during the 1949 season but earned a starting berth early on this year's team.

He has missed almost three complete games this season due to injuries or sickness or his record probably would be better. He can play either halfback position or fullback with equal ability and is a good blocker.

Sam Perrino

Sam Perrino is the smallest member of the 1950 Red Hurricane line. Weighing only 165 pounds on a line that averages around 185 pounds, Sam has given a pretty good account of himself.

He started out the season as a regular, was relegated to the bench by the fine play of Bob Shellogg, but came right back after Shellogg was injured to take over the position at right guard in great fashinn.

He alternated between the line and the backfield in his Junior Varsity days and last week took over the quarterback berth, when the Cane backfield was riddled with injuries.

TURTLE CREEK ROUTE

New Castle office of the AAA suggests the following way of going to Turtle Creek for tonight's football game:

Take Route 88 to Ellwood City, Route 288 to Zelienople and Route 19 nearly into Pittsburgh, turning left at the Sparkle market. Turn right at the bottom of the hill onto Babcock boulevard and follow the boulevard into Millvale.

From Millvale cross the George Washington bridge and turn left at the second traffic light on the other side of the bridge onto Penn avenue. Follow Penn avenue until Route 180 is reached. Turn right on 180 and it will take you right into Turtle Creek.

Erv Palica Under Army Observation

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Brooklyn Dodger righthander Erv Palica is being held over for further examination today by U. S. army physicians, who are trying to determine his draft status.

The 22-year-old fastballer was found to have high blood pressure at his pre-induction physical yesterday. Army medicos placed him in a "holdover" status and kept him at Ft. Jay hosptial, Governors Island, for further observation.

"Pleek," who won 12 games while losing 8 for the Brooks last season, was married last August.

Indians 'Fire' Lou Boudreau, Hire Al Lopez

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10—(INS)—Veteran Major League catcher Al Lopez replaced Lou Boudreau today as manager of the Cleveland Indians for the 1951-52 seasons at "the highest salary ever paid a non-playing Cleveland manager."

The signing of Lopez, manager of the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association for the past three years, brings to an end one of the most turbulent managerial reigns in Cleveland baseball history.

Cementers Test Freedom Eleven

Unofficial County Titles In Jeopardy

The scoring prowess of the Bessemer Cementers will undergo severe testing Saturday night at the Freedom field in an engagement against the Bulldogs from the valley.

Ciccone's bruising Bessemer single wing will utilize Schaville at tailback and Pezzuolo at bucking back with Commesso on the wing. This trio has scored 18 of the team's touchdowns this season and End Jim Gagliano has tallied the other three.

Touchdowns Even

Pezzuolo and Schaville have scored 16 of the Cementer touchdowns to match exactly the output of Backs Jack Trettel and Mike Borro at Freedom.

The Bessemer team must strengthen its defense if it entertains any hope of winning from the Valley B champions. The forward wall of the Cementers has yielded 125 points this year; Freedom has limited the opposition to but 31.

The Lawrence County B champions are in a position to mar a perfect season and spoil a title bid for the Mike Harr coached eleven.

Freedom boasts a 7-0 record; Bessemer a 5-2-1 record.

Blackhawks Top Canadiens, 2 To 1

(By International News Service)

The Chicago Blackhawks may be seven points out of first place in the National Hockey league today, but the top two teams of the league—Toronto and Detroit—had better take notice in a hurry.

The Hawks, now in third place and only one point from the second slot Red Wings, moved up from fourth last night by defeating the Montreal Canadiens, 2 to 1.

GORGEOUS GUSSIE WINS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 10.—(INS)—"Gorgeous Gussie" Moran, the sartorially daring tennis player, finally won a match last night from her tour opponent, Mrs. Pauline Betz Addie.

Gussie, attired in an abbreviated white rayon costume, cracked Mrs. Addie's serve after trailing 2-0 and went on to win 6-4 in the Milwaukee match. It was Miss Moran's first triumph in 10 tries.

Jack Kramer again bested Pancho Segura in the other pro match, 10-8, 6-4.

Stockholders Approve Going Into 'B' Loop

Scarazzo Conducts Enthusiastic Meeting

New Castle will have a team next summer in the Mid-Atlantic baseball league.

This much was made certain last night as quite a number of interested stockholders and board of directors met at King Humbert hall and heard a report by President Al Scarazzo on the Butler meeting.

Following the report stockholders voted to enter the "B" league, providing it is passed at the league meeting to be held in New Castle November 26 at The Castleton.

It was announced at the meeting by Scarazzo that the New Castle team can operate the concession at Flaherty Memorial field next summer, the contract with the outside firm having expired.

Considerable enthusiasm was played by the interested stockholders present that New Castle will have a strong team next year in the league.

Moves On "Fire"

There are several moves on the "fire" that must await the league meeting here. Washington may not want to have a working agreement with New Castle in a "B" league. This will have to be learned later. There is another team that has shown considerable interest in New Castle which has promised a lot of help next year.

There is a money raising campaign under way here to help defray part of the 1950 expenses incurred through bad weather and other sources. A financial report was read to the stockholders last night and it was not a pretty picture.

Bear Season Opens Monday

Morgan Shot Large Bear Last Year

Bear season opens Monday in Pennsylvania and beginning at 7 a.m. it is anticipated 125,000 hunters will seek black bruins.

Last season 411 bears were killed.

Individual hunters are allowed to kill one bear, while hunting parties of three or more are limited to two.

A legal bear is one over a year old.

A good way to judge if a bear is the legal kind is to judge its weight at over 100 pounds. An illegal cub costs $200, in fines.

In the early 1920's, a 538-pounder was killed by Norman Cokendahl.

Last year Don Morgan, age 18, of New Castle, shot a 478-pounder.

Reports Walker Dodger Manager For 1951 Season

ATLANTA, Nov. 10—(INS)—An Atlanta radio sports commentator last night broadcast what he called an "exclusive announcement" that Fred (Dixie) Walker will be the next manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers but Walker denied knowing anything about it.

Thad Horton of station WSB said "sources in New York" told him Walker will get the job. However, he did not elaborate.

Walker, popular former flatbush star who managed Atlanta of the southern association last season, said from his Birmingham, Ala., home:

"I don't know a thing about it. I've been left out of any such announcement."

Big Ten Teams Badly Crippled

Seven Schools Rely On Substitutes

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS)—That old injury bugaboo swept through the Big Ten and left a trail of bruised and battered football players at seven schools today.

Illinois plans to leave for Iowa without halfback Johnny Karras, is suffering from an ankle injury. Don Stevens will fill Karras' left halfback post.

Sophomore quarterback Burt Britzmann is lost to Iowa for the season. Coach Leonard Raffensperger said the chipped bone in Britzmann's right leg cannot heal in time to permit the Hawkeye safety man to play any more this season. The injury occurred against Ohio State two weeks ago.

Gophers Lose Two

Coach Bernie Bierman left tackle Jerry Ekberg and halfback Larry Esser behind to rest their aches as Minnesota traveled to Michigan State.

A leg injury may force right end Darrel Brewster to sit on the Purdue bench during Saturday's contest with Northwestern. Ronald Bland will be his replacement if Brewster cannot play.

Northwestern end Chuck Hagmann and guard Jim Howe are still ailing from last week's game and are not on the team's traveling list.

Wisconsin halfback Jerry Schaefer gave up fooball for the season because of multiple injuries.

Michigan still has its trouble at right halfback. Leo Koceski may be able to perform against Indiana part of the time but Frank Howell probably will watch the entire contest from the sidelines.

John Davis, Indiana defensive halfback, has had his nose broken eight different times. He had it straightened several times but now he has given up and will wait until his football playing career is over.

Little Schools Play For Big Stakes In State Collegiate Roundup

By TROY GORDON
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

The so-called "big-time-" football teams in Pennsylvania can step aside this week and let a couple of surprise squads clash in the state's outstanding game.

Lehigh, winner of seven in a row this year, plays host to Carnegie Tech, which has taken six straight, in the week's best attraction in the Keystone state.

On the basis of Lehigh's victories over Dartmouth and Ruters, International News Service picks the brown and white to beat the Pittsburghers, but it's likely to be a free-scoring contest.

And the winner could go to a bowl.

Tech-Lehigh Big Game

Anyone with a memory will think it ironic that the Lehigh-Tech battle would get the nod on the same week that Pitt plays Notre Dame and Penn tangles with Brown. But football teams take funny bounces.

Getting back to Pitt-Notre Dame: The Panthers (1-5-0) no doubt have some hope of joining the parade of opponents who have slapped the Irish now that they're down. But it's not to be—Notre Dame.

Penn (4-2-0) shouldn't have too much trouble with Brown at Philadelphia, unless Army battered the Quakers considerably. Penn:

Penn State (2-3-1) entertains West Virginia at State College. Entertains may not be the word. The Nittany Lions should send the Mountaineers home beaten—State.

Lafayette (1-6-0) has a rugged day ahead at Rutgers and will come in second—Rutgers.

Bucknell (4-3-0) goes to Philadelphia to battle Temple (4-1-1). The Owls will win if they're careful.

Duquesne To Lose

Duquesne (2-4-1) is due for another setback by Detroit university Sunday.

Pennsylvania's three other unbeaten teams are favored again this week.

Franklin & Marshall (4-0-0) plays Washington & Jefferson (0-6-0) (no, Junior, this is not a double header(at Washington, Pa. Unless the Diplomats are sound asleep, this will be easy for F. & M.

Bloomsburg (6-0-0) goes to West Chester (6-1-0) and will continue its mastery over, Pennsylvania Teachers colleges, but not without a fight.

Thiel (6-0-0) has an excellent chance to wind up its season undefeated. The Tomcats play at Lycoming (0-6-0, this week in their final appearance—Thiel.

In all, nine schools end their season this week and two finished a week ago. Those winding up are Allegheny, Clarion, Dickinson, Geneva, Lock Haven, Moravian, Penn Military, St. Francis and Thiel. California State and Edinboro called it quits last week. King's and Villanova are taking a rest this Saturday.

Other Predictions

In words of one and two syllables, here's the way the rest of them will turn out (it says here). Home teams are listed last.

Friday night:

East Stroudsburg (3-2-0) over Ithaca, N. Y.

Morris-Harvey (W. Va.) vs. Gannon (5-1-0). This is a tough one, but a vote for Gannon.

Waynesburg (2-2-1) loses to St. Vincent (3-2-1).

Saturday:

Westminster (2-4-1) gets beat by Allegheny (1-4-1).

Clarion (2-4-0) bows to Slippery Rock (2-4-0).

Bethany (W. Va.) dropped by Geneva (7-1-0).

Juniata (2-4-0) makes it seven defeats in a row for Grove City (0-6-0).

Shippensburg (5-1-1) sinks Indiana State (4-2-1).

Muhlenberg (3-2-1) loses a heartbreaker to Scranton (5-1-0).

Arizin Sparks Warrior Quint

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Paul Arizin, playing with a bad case of athlete's foot, sparked the Philadelphia Warriors to a rousing 87-72 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons at the Arena last night.

Arizine, ex-Villanova star, plunked in nine field goals and eight fouls for high-scoring honors of 26 points in the National Basketball Association tilt.

Titan Gridders Ready For Tough Tussle At Allegheny Saturday

Two Freshmen Standouts In Westminster Backfield

Two defensive-minded college football teams will turn to long standing rivalry tomorrow afternoon on Meadville's college field in what seems sure to be a close tough-fought ball game.

Westminster college's football Titans will renew hostilities with Allegheny college starting at 2:15 p. m. The last time a Titan-Allegheny battle was won by more than 13 points was in 1931.

Seek Prestige

Both ball clubs sport poor won-lost records after a season of tough defeats. And so tomorrow, Allegheny's last 1950 appearance, looms as a chance for one team to gain lost prestige. In addition to being a farewell to Allegheny seniors it will be a chance for Allegheny revenge. Westminster held last year's good Allegheny team to a scoreless tie.

Westminster's Titans are pointing for this their next to last game. Powerful Carnegie Tech comes here for the final game next weekend. Coach Melvin Hetzler will send a young, fast team against the Gators, with attention going to the Titan backfield that could decide the contest in a hurry if it has one of its good afternoons.

Freshmen Standouts

Two freshmen standouts will be in the Westminster starting backfield. Bob Sistok will direct the Titan T and Carl Mantz, the Ellwood City scatback, will be at left half. Completing the quartet will be junior Paul Campbell, the fullback, and halfback Larry Verone.

Allegheny will come back with its own question mark backfield and one of the toughest little-college lines in the nation. Center George Yarbonet heads a line that held six opponents to an average of 82 yards per game in ground attack.

WHEN Bill Varbie, soph halfback for the Wittenberg college eleven, goes into a game he feels he is paying back part of the debt he owes football. Stricken with polio at five, Bill was told he'd never walk again. A doctor suggested certain exercises, among them one in which Bill would kick a kid-sized football to strengthen his leg. It worked, and Bill recovered. Today he is one of the Wittenberg stars and is fifth in scoring in the Ohio Conference. (International)

Olympians Top 'Knicks', 85-73

The Indianapolis Olympians took three periods to warm up, and when they found the New York Knickerbockers leading, 56 to 52, at the end of the third quarter, they decided to take things into their own hands.

The net result found the ex-Kentuckians on the big end of an 85 to 73 score at New York last night. They scored 33 points in that last quarter surge to the New Yorkers' 16 to win going away.

The surprising Boston Celtics upset George Mikan and the Minneapolis Lakers last night 76 to 71.

The Syracuse Nationals, top team in the eastern division, knocked over the Tri-Cities Blackhawks 89 to 70.

The Philadelphia Warriors subdued the Fort Wayne Pistons 87 to 72.

DAUTHUILLE VS. YOUNG

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Laurent Dauthuille of France, a 9 to 5 favorite, opposes New York's Paddy Young before an expected 9,000 crowd tonight in the 10-round middleweight headliner at Madison Square Garden.

WILL SHOOT TONIGHT

Members of the New Castle Rifle club will hold a practice shoot tonight at 8 o'clock at their Mahoningtown range.

The Panthers won their last game from the Irish in 1937.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

FOR THE FIRST TIME in 23 years, the Taylor reserve, consisting of 6,000 acres, in Forest county, will be open to deer hunting for the first nine days of the season, according to Garfield Davis, who has been notified to this effect by the members of the Tionesta Volunteer Fire department. To hunt this great deer shelter, hunters must first buy permits from the Volunteer Fire department. The price is $1 per day for residents of Forest county, $2 per day for licensed hunters of Pennsylvania and $3 per day for all out-of-state hunters. The proceeds from the sale of the permits will be used to buy a $10,000 fire truck for the Tionesta department. Permits are now on sale. Requests should be mailed to Bruce Johnson, Tionesta. . . . Quality of pro' mat matches here equals the bouts held in Marigold gardens, Chicago, which are seen on television. F'rinstance Don Eagle met Fred Von Schalk there Wednesday night and it was announced that Ivan Rasputin, who was disqualified in the Tag here, would meet Eagle who threw Von Schalk. Next grapplers' meet here will be November 29. . . . Bud Fleeger "plays" Sandy Lake. He recently took his second Northern Pike out of the lake. He also caught a nice bass. . . . "Gino" Frengel is a truthful hunter. He said: "I raised a pheasant, shot, and missed." . . . Coach Phil Bridenbaugh of Ne-Ca-Hi will have a number of gridders gambling at Turtle Creek for the last time as hi-gridders, because of graduation. They are: DeFalco, Tate, Sansone, Perrino, Latsko, Cziszer, Marino, Bucker, Richael and Bober.

—o—

SHOOTS ARE SCHEDULED as follows: Every Wednesday night at the Ellwood City-Wampum Rod & Gun club; every Saturday night by the Volunteer Firemen of Union township and every Sunday afternoon by the Lawrence County Sportsman's association, according to their schedule. . . . Here & There acknowledges a book on soil and game conservation, which was presented by Jimmy McCormick. It is very informative. . . . Bill which will receive consideration in the U.S. Senate is one which would afford protection to the Bald Eagle in Alaska, where it is now killed for bounty. The bill has passed the House. If recollection serves accurately, Owen Fox once said the eagles were shot and a bounty was paid when its tongue was produced. . . . Beaver Falls Auxiliary Children's Aid society will benefit from funds raised by a wrestling show to be held in the high school gymnasium November 18. Don Eagle will wrestle Kay Bell in the feature exhibition, according to Ellie Hutchinson, secretary of the society. . . . Learned for the first time yesterday that K.O. Jitney, who fought in World War I and who won the A.E.F. featherweight title, died some time ago. He boxed Babe Picato in Ellwood City a few decades ago. . . . Lou Shiring, who was arrested in Pittsburgh for firing a couple of bullets into the ceiling to end a melee in his cafe Wednesday night, served as deputy commissioner of wrestling in The Arena. He left here at 10:30 p.m. and must have arrived there in time to see the fracas going on.

Scrappy Russ Spanard, 175-pound guard from McKees Rocks, and dependable Ed Rylander, 200-pound tackle from Ben Avon, have given Allegheny lines a stability the last four years that have helped the Gators to two winning seasons in a row for the first time in two decades. Spanard has twice been named to honorable mention in district grid play and has provided the spark, along with Yarbent, that has set the Gators off. Rylander, a steady, consistent player gives weight to the line and provides experience and determination.

All-American Paul Arizin, a south Philadelphia kid once thought basketball was a sissy game.

Canes Vie For Cross Country Championship

New Castle high cross country team will arrive at State College, Pa., this afternoon for a quick look-see at the Nittany golf course which will serve as testing grounds for approximately 20 teams and 140 stamina stalwarts Saturday.

New Castle, Ambridge, Mt. Lebanon, and Wilkinsburg will represent the WPIAL, with Ambridge in the role of defending champion and Mt. Lebanon in the position of the favorite.

Dick Rapson, William Frengel, Wayne Florida, Ron Bailey, Chuck Sampson, Bill Broaddus, John McPhillips and Dave Lewis will represent New Castle, when the teams lineup at 11:00 a. m. Saturday.

Dan Nixon will serve as team manager.

Reserve Officers Dance Is Planned

Plans for their Armistice Day dance were completed at a meeting last night of the Lawrence county chapter of the Reserve Officers association. General Chairman Robert A. Young gave a report on the dance which is being held Saturday night at the New Castle Country club. Other members of the committee are Waldron Curley, Howard Smith, Harold Booth and Walter Conover.

Final arrangements were also completed for the chapter to march in the parade Saturday. Members are to meet at the corner of South Mill and Lutton streets at 6:45 p. m. It is anticipated that the organization will have 100% attendance in the parade. Ernest L. McClymonds, president of the chapter, will lead the contingent. Mr. McClymonds will also represent the reserve officers at the memorial services at the court house in the morning.

Entertainment and refreshments followed the business session.

Hornsby Named Seattle Manager

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 10 — (INS)—Rogers Hornsby, who once piloted the St. Louis Browns, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs, is the new manager of the Seattle Rainiers.

Hiring of Hornsby, rated by some baseball's greatest righthand hitter of all time, was announced Thursday night by Emil Sick, president of the Seattle Club.

"The Rajah" succeeds Paul Richards who has been signed to manage the Chicago White Sox.

Navy College Program Open To All Those Between 17 And 21

The navy has announced that high school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible for the navy's college training program which leads to a degree at a highly accredited college or university and a commission in the navy or Marine Corps.

The navy recruiting station will supply all information concerning details of the program. Applications will close Nov. 18.

REALLY CLEANED OUT

MONTEREY, Calif.—In breaking into a Monterey home recently burglars not only made off with several household items — they stole the watchdog also.

Jethroe Named NL Top Rookie

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(INS)—Sam Jethroe, a piece of Branch Rickey merchandise, turned up today as the National League's rookie of the year.

Jethroe, the speedy Boston Brave outfielder who was sold to the Beantowners by Rickey for a hundred grand plus, received 11 first place designations from the 23 members of the Baseball Writers' Association who voted.

Selection of Jethroe made the rookie awards an all-Boston affair. Red Sox first baseman Walt Dropo won the American League prize.

Miller Runnerup

Philadelphia righthander Bob Miller was second with five votes. Pittsburgh shortstop Danny O'Connell, who has passed his army physical, received four votes while Bubba Church of the Phils got two and Chicago's Bill Serena one.

Jethroe was a big gun for the Braves during the first part of the season, but suffered a leg injury that kept him on the sidelines and he failed to regain his early-season form.

Nevertheless, the East St. Louis, Ill., stringbean led the Majors in stolen bases with 35 and batted .273 with 18 homers and 58 runs batted in.

Sam became the third negro in the last four years to win rookie honors in the senior circuit. Jackie Robinson and Don Newcombe, both of the Brooklyn Dodgers, were the other two.

Chases Snead In

JOHNNY PALMER of Badin, N. C., who ended second behind Sam Snead in the North and South Open golf tournament in Pinehurst, N. C., with a 72-hole total of 279, takes time out to play a bit with his son, 28-month-old Johnny, Jr. Snead won $1,500, Palmer $1,000. (International)

Ten Undefeated Major Colleges Risk Records

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Ten remaining undefeated major college football teams will see action this weekend, but the top game in the nation brings together two once-beaten elevens.

While the unbeaten teams, with one or two exceptions, are confronted with breathers, Ohio State and Wisconsin square off at Columbus on Saturday in the brightest offering of the week.

Ohio State has lost to Southern Methodist and Wisconsin to Michigan. The Big Ten title may go to Saturday's winner. For the Badgers, that also would mean a trip to the Rose Bowl. Ohio State can not repeat last year's western junket.

Lineup of Games

Meanwhile, here is the way the unbeaten fraternity will be engaged: Louisville at Miami, Fla., (6-0) tonight; New Mexico at Army (6-0); Clemson (5-0-1) at Boston college; Wyoming (7-0) at Brigham Young; UCLA at California (7-0); Oklahoma (6-0) at Kansas; Kentucky (8-0) at Mississippi State; Harvard at Princeton 6-0) and Carnegie Tech (6-0) at Lehigh (7-0).

Only California and Oklahoma face really stiff opposition. UCLA has lost only to Washington and Illinois. Kansas' lone defeats were at the hands of Texas Christian and Nebraska.

WITH NEW CASTLE AFRO-AMERICANS

South Side Prayer band will meet at the home of Mrs. Brady Dudley, 20 Front street, this evening at 7 o'clock, with Mrs. Marie Maddox in charge.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Changes Small

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The stock market fluctuated within generally restricted price limits today. A few issues showed special strength but the main body of stocks was held back by profit-taking following the two post-election days of sharp advance.

Dow Chemical was a feature, gaining 1½ points to a new high at 73 while Commercial Solvents was active and ½ higher at 20¼, but American Cyanamid sold off a point to 70¼.

In the pivotal industrial list, U. S. Steel was unchanged at 40⅜, DuPont up ⅜ at 80⅝, Bethlehem Steel up ⅛ at 44¾, General Electric up ¼ at 49¼, Westinghouse Electric unchanged at 32⅝, and Chrysler up ⅛ at 75⅜.

Sinclair responded to news of a 50 cents extra dividend with a rise of ½ point to 30⅛. Elsewhere in the oils, Standard of New Jersey was up ½ at 85½, and Gulf down ⅛ at 78⅜.

The bond market was irregular. Many recently strong rails eased.

Rubber futures featured commodities with gains to the maximum allowable 4 cents a pound. Cotton advanced $1.50 a bale and wheat and corn were up major fractions.

May Force Resignation Of Acheson

By JOHN A. RICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Political and diplomatic observers are convinced today that the Republican gains in Congress will ultimately force the resignation of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State.

Acheson has denied he has any intention of resigning. It is doubtful that President Truman wishes to be rid of the few men in government on whom he can depend.

In the present situation it is doubtful that the chief executive would call for Acheson's resignation, since this would imply a change in United States foreign policy. Such a change is certainly not contemplated.

Picture Complicated

The picture is complicated by the fact that such Republican leaders as Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, have contended that the election returns are a repudiation of U. S. foreign policy, of Acheson and of the fair deal.

While this is considered a too simple statement of the situation, Taft carries enough weight in the Senate and in his own party to cause the Republicans to concentrate on this theory.

In addition, Republican representation on Congressional committees will be increased under usual procedure. The Democratic membership will reflect the narrow margin by which the party controls House and Senate.

In some cases this may be as small as a majority of one. Furthermore, the south is represented by a number of members who perform more along Republican lines than those of the administration.

Will Be Difficult

Consequently, it is felt, the chance of getting the Senate Foreign Relations committee to approve certain pending or future treaties will be made more difficult. And, in any event, it will be increasingly difficult to get Senate ratification in many instances by the two-thirds majority required.

There had been earlier reports that Taft would seek a place on the Senate Foreign Relations committee. With its enlargement this might be quite possible. Moreover, Taft, with his eye on the White House in 1952 and concentration on international matters, might well get a place on the committee: if only to accentuate the issues.

No Limit On November Airborne Enlistments

In keeping with the U. S. Army's expansion program, the Department of the Army has authorized the Lawrence County Recruiting Service to accept an unlimited amount of Airborne enlistments during the month of November, according to Sgt. 1cl H. O. Falls, local recruiting sergeant.

The mental and physical requirements are the same as for an ordinary enlistment in the U. S. Army except that applicants must be between 18 and 31 years of age, must have a height of between 60 and 78 inches and weigh from 120 to 200 pounds.

Qualified applicants will take their basic training at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, and upon completion will be assigned to either the 101st Airborne Division, Fort Breckenridge, Kentucky, 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, or the 11th Airborne Division, Fort Campbell, Kentucky, for airborne training.

For complete details young men are invited to visit the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station located in the Post Office Bldg., New Castle, or call 4745.

Three Enlist In Navy Service

George Warren Huff Jr., 312 North Cedar street, New Castle, Paul Hamilton Kerr, 114 W. Cherry, and Howard Benjamin Ferree, R.D. 2, Ellwood City have enlisted in the U. S. Navy for four years and have been transferred to Great Lakes, Ill., for recruit training.

THE ENGAGEMENT

"I am soon to become engaged and would like to know how I may 'spread the news' without giving a party for the purpose. I have many out-of-town friends and my fiance's friends and family live out of town. How should I let them know? May I send them engagement cards?"

Answer: More engagements take place without an announcement party than with one, I would say. Indeed, it is not at all necessary to give any entertainment for the purpose of an announcement. You may, if you choose, have a luncheon at your home or at a hotel to entertain your friends and during it tell the good news. Or you may simply send the notice to the newspapers in both your city and that where your fiance's family and friends live. This must be done by the bride's family.

Sometimes, instead of making any formal announcement, the bride-to-be gives the news to several of her most intimate friends and depends upon them to spread it among their friends and acquaintances.

The choice of announcement is optional, depending upon personal preference. However the situation is handled, the announcement must come from the bride's family and never from the groom's, although, of course, the young man may spread the news verbally.

Write notes, if you choose, to your out-of-town friends and relatives. Printed or engraved cards for this purpose are not correct. Let it be personal letters or nothing.

Question: Is the finger bowl a "must"? That is, if you feel that you have no need to dip your fingers, must you anyway?

Answer: It is not a "must" but what harm could there be in dipping when the bowl is placed before you? It is merely a formality and not a necessity in this civilized era of eating with silver instead of with your fingers. When one is placed before you, use it.

"Orang-utang" is Malay for "man of the forest."
